TAX PETITION DRIVE FORMS

Terry Backed For Governor

. . . 28,903 NAMES NEEDED

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Opponents of a state income tax prepared Monday to launch their promised petition campaign to place the issue on the 1966 general election ballot.

The referendum drive began to take form in the wake of Gov. Frank Morrison's announcement that he will permit the income tax bill to become law without his signature.

The measure. LB797, approved by a 26-23 vote of the Legislature last week, could not be vetoed after midnight Wednesday. However. the tax does not become effective until Jan. 1, 1967.

Carpenter Endorsed

Meanwhile, Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha announced his full support of Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff as a possible gubernatorial candidate in 1966, no matter which party Carpenter might choose.

Mahoney is a former administrative assistant to Republican Rep. Glenn Cunningham.

Carpenter, who has expressed his willingness to help lead the referendum movement, is now a registered Republican, but mignt seek the nomination of the Democratic Party if he becomes a gubernatorial candidate.

Carpenter said he is "more likely to run today than I was yesterday."

Mahoney suggested that "regardless of which party he would run in, the people of this state would have a real governor—not a soft ,wishy-washy governor."

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha called a meeting Wednesday to map strategy for the referendum drive, inviting all senators "interested in helping the people defeat the worst bill this Legislature has ever passed."

Have Some Names

Sen. William Skarda of Omaha said some signatures have already been acquired on petitions distributed during the past few days.

Some 28,903 signatures will need to be obtained within 90 days after the 1965 session adjourns. They must be distributed in such a manner as to include at least five per cent of the electorate in each of 38 counties.

"It should be rather easy," Sen. George Syas of Omaha said.

Syas said he is not sure what organizations will participate in the drive, but he invited "all elements throughout the state to help."

A number of the bill's opponents had harsh words for Morrison.

"This makes him a has-been," Klaver insisted. "This definitely kills him politically."

Syas called the governor's action "spineless," while Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha said "the decision is consistent with his general lack of decisiveness in handling the whole matter."

Major opposition to the bill has been centered in Omaha. Chief support has come from rural areas and Lincoln, seat of state government.

Sen. Hal Bauer of Lincoln, chief sponsor of the tax proposal, said the governor's decision is "consistent with his prior position in that he said he would not veto the bill even though he opposes a broadened tax base."

Bauer said a coalition of agriculture, education and labor should be sufficient to either frustrate the petition drive or defeat the referendum.

The possibility continues to exist that proponents of the bill may attempt to place a referendum to repeal the state property tax on the same ballot.

No Official Position

In Norfolk, Dr. Allen Burkhardt said the Association of Nebraska taxpayers has not yet taken an official position on whether it will actively support a referendum drive aimed at the income tax bill.

"I am sure we would cooperate," the executive secretary noted.

JANOS KADAR

Kadar Sheds Premier Post

The 53-year-old Kadar was succeeded as premier by his long-time deputy, Gyula Kallai, 55, known as the chief ideologist of ahe Hungarian Communist Party.

Party Full Time

An announcement by the central cimmittee said Kadar was relieved "of his duties as chairman of the council of ministers in order to be able to devote his whole time to his duties as the first secretary of the central committee."

Official sources said the reshuffle, affecting seven government and party leaders, did not mean any changes in Hungary's domestic and foreign polires but was designed to take "some burden off Mr. Kadar's shoulders."

This was interpreted as an indication that Kadar, who held the post of premier periodically since the Soviet crushing of the 1956 Hungarian revolution, was in full agreement with the central committee.

Calm, Assured

Earlier this month Kadar granted a rare interview to Associated Press writer Preston Grover. The premier then seemed calm and assured about his future and the future of Hungary.

He said in the interview that he was "ready at any time to go any place" to improve relations with the United States and to promote general understanding and peaceful coexistence.

Kadar's resignation and the reshuffle of the cabinet were announced three days after a special session of the central committee of the Hungarian Socialist Workers (Communist) Party. The announcement was published by the official news agency MTI.

Tough Leader

Of peasant origin, Kadar entered the illegal Communist Party and became its leader at age 19. In World War II while some of the country's top Communists went to Moscow he stayed at home and became a tough underground leader.

Kadar was imprisoned by the postwar Communist regime of Matyas Rakosi, but within three years he had pushed Rakosi into exile and replaced him as head of the party.

After the 1956 revolt was put down by Soviet troops, Kadar was installed as premier. He resigned two years later but remained as party chief. He was back again as premier in 1961, replacing aging Ferenc Muennich.

Kallai, the new premier, is a lifelong friend of Kadar. Kallai served as foreign minister from 1949 to 1951, as minister of culture and education from 1957 to 1960 and as a first deputy premier beginning in 1960.

Authoritative sources in Budapest said Kadar's resignation as premier had been under consideration since late 1964.

Kadar was said to have postponed a decision, however, after the ouster of Soviet Premier and party chief Nikita Krushchev, apparently to avoid creating the semblance of "chain reaction" to Soviet events.

Second Shakeup

The Hungarian reshuffle is the second in East Europe since Khrushchef was ousted and his jobs split between Alexei Kosygin as premier and Leonid Brezhnev as party chief.

Donald Ross Given Key GOP Post

Ross is one of four vice chairmen who serve under National Chairman Ray Bliss. He was selected by a vote of the national committee.

In his new post, Ross automatically becomes a member of the Republican Coordinating Committee, composed of five Senate leaders, six House leaders, five governors, the five living GOP presidential nominees and six representatives of the national committee.

'Great Opportunity'

"This is a great opportunity to help serve the Republican Party, and I hope that I can assist it in serving in this post," Ross said.

The vice chairmen are chosen from geographical sections of the nation, and Ross will represent the Midwest.

Ross was active in leading the move to replace National Chairman Dean Burch with Bliss earlier this year.

The coordinating committee on which Ross will serve is responsible for bringing the GOP platform up to date, expressing a current statement of principles and outlining party policy.

Mrs. Donald First

Mrs. Edna Basten Donald of Grand Island, former GOP national committeewoman, was the first Nebraskan to be named a national vice chairman in 1953. Ross is the second.

"It is a well deserved honor for him," Mrs. Donald said. "I am delighted."

293 Sit-Ins Convicted In Berkeley

Berkeley, Calif. (AP)—A municipal judge handed down guilty verdicts Monday for 293 demonstrators arrested last December in a middle-of-the-night sit-in at the administration building on the University of California Berkeley campus.

The judge rapidly read off 155 verdicts at Monday morning court session and 138 more in the afternoon.

For 287 of the defendants the verdict could mean maximum sentence of 18 months in jail and $1,500 in fines. They were convicted of resisting arrest and trespassing.

Sentence Lighter

Sentences will be imposed July 19 and 20.

Monday's proceeding posed the possibility of guilty findings for at least 350 more young defendants during the next few days.

Berkeley Sit-In

Police, carrying many limp demonstrators out bodily, broke up the all-night sit-in on orders of Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The sit-in, led by Mario Savio, 22-year-old philosophy major from New York, was the outgrowth of a protest against a university rule banning on-campus advocacy of such matters as collecting funds for civil rights work in the South.

Savio was among the 154 convicted of both charges. He was absent in New York Monday with his bride, the former Suzanne Goldberg, also among the 154.

Misses Studies

Savio dropped out of school because, he said, his activity with the Free Speech Movement during months of demonstrations against campus regulations, put him too far behind in his studies. He said he plans to return.

Only 155 actually stood trial before gray-haired Municipal Judge Rupert Crittenden over a period of several weeks. Others arrested agreed to stand on the evidence of the hearings.

The 155 included most of the FSM leaders. In addition to Savio they numbered Bettina Aptheker, whose father, Dr. Herbert Aptheker, teaches at the New York School for Marxist Studies and has spoken frequently of being a Communist for 30 years.

Hail And Rain Batter Wilber

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Wilber—A 90-minute deluge and back-to-back hailstorms turned many of the streets here into rushing torrents three feet deep Monday afternoon.

Overloaded storm sewers, partly clogged by debris and hailstones as large as ping-pong balls, left streets temporarily impassable for at least 25 blocks. North-South Highway 82 was also blocked several hours as water converged at a low point near the junction with Highway 41 —the town's main intersection.

Although many rain gauges overflowed and some were shattered by hail, city light plant officials reported "about 5.25 inches" in the brief storm period. Basements were flooded, roofs badly peppered and gardens virtually shredded.

Marble-size hail whitened the ground and piled ankle-deep on lawns as it first fell with sheets of water about 4:15. Approximately a half hour later a second barrage hit. These stones were considerably larger.

With cars stalled throughout town in water over wheel deep, one near-tragedy was averted as a driver in his late 70's was washed off a street. Volunteer firemen and police rushed to the aid of Frank Vesely, but found he had been helped to safety by Alvin Dvorak, 22.

"By the time we arrived, only the roof of his car was above water," said officer A. R. Sellmeyer. "He never would have made it without help, and Dvorak deserves a lot of credit for the rescue."

Main street was littered with limbs and other debris swept down from side streets —including a picnic table. A keeper-size bass was found flopping at the town's main intersection, apparently washed from a nearby farm pond.

There was concern for surrounding crops that may have felt the storm's wrath, and preliminary reports indicated the damage was extensive in the farm areas hit. Clatonia had 4½ inches of rain, and volunteer fireman Arvey Rehm reported "baseball-size hail that left only stumps of some crops."

In Lincoln, a severe thunderstorm accompanied by high winds early Tuesday morning flooded streets knocked down trees and left some areas without power as high-tension wires fell.

Several minor auto accidents were reported during the storm.

Traffic was at a standstill. The 48th St. and Havelock underpasses were flooded.

Among the streets where water was over curb-deep were South 27th, Hazelwood Drive, Randolph near 27th, parts of O Street and South 84th south of O.

Among intersections flooded were 20th and O, 42nd and O, 46th and O, 27th and Randolph, and 52nd and O.

Driving along several streets was hazardous because storm sewers could not handle the runoff. In spots water was spouting from manhole covers.

O Street was nearly impassable under the Missouri Pacific overpass east of 70th.

Cortland and Hallam both had egg-size hail, but Cortland had about twice the rainfall with three inches. Malcolm had light hail and heavy rain, Hickman about two inches of rain only. Denton and DeWitt also reported heavy showers of over an inch, and Denton had some wind damage.

Heavy rains Monday afternoon and evening over parts of the Salt Creek Basin caused flooding on some tributary streams and parts of Salt Creek.

Water was over the highway a mile south of the Crete corner.

Roca reported more than three inches of rain with Salt Creek at 15 feet and rising. Water was over the highway west of Roca.

Additional rainfall reports: Lincoln airport, .89; Beatrice, .35; Liberty, 3.00; Lewiston, 2.50; Filley, 1.25; Pickrell, 3.50; Hickman, 2.35; Kramer, 2.25; Bennet, 1.85; Panama, approximately 3.00; Geneva, .25; Milligan, 1.00.

A heavy hailstorm hit the Gering-Morrill-Melbeta area Monday afternoon, causing considerable crop damage. And Monday night Gering was hit again by hail, causing further crop damage.

U.S. May Consider Closing Down Tracking Stations In South Africa

Washington (AP) — The United States may consider closing its three satellite tracking stations in South Africa because of the South African government's public insistence that this country cannot send Negro scientists to the stations.

In apparent growing irritation with U.S. refusal to cooperate with South Africa's segregation policy, Premier Hendrik Verwoerd has announced he has told the United States it cannot employ Negro scientists in the South African stations.

State Department officials said Monday they are awaiting word on Verwoerd's move from Ambassador Joseph C. Satterthwaite.

Questioned at a news conference Monday on whether the United States presently plans to continue the satellite tracking stations in operation, a State Department spokesman said "surely."

Before Review

However, Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey made it clear, in response to follow-up questions, that he was speaking only for the moment and before the situation has been reviewed in the light of Verwoerd's latest move.

The United States is planning to go ahead meanwhile with a 4th of July party at the U.S. embassy in Pretoria to which Negroes as well as white persons are being invited.

In spite of South Africa's policy of apartheid the United States began holding official functions in South Africa on July 4, 1963, without regard to racial discrimination.

The United States has three tracking stations in South Africa, all in the general area of Pretoria.

One is operated by the U.S. Air Force and largely staffed with Americans.

The State Department said the number of Americans there never has exceeded 50 and as far as they could recall the colored question never has arisen.

NASA, Smithsonian

Another station is run by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. A third station is associated with the NASA installation and is virtually a part of it. It operates for the Smithsonian Institution.

The NASA complex is staffed by South African personnel and normally has only one U.S. liaison officer.

Resolution On Right To Work Okayed

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A legislative resolution reaffirming Nebraska's stand on the so-called right to work law was approved Monday by the Committee on Labor.

The 5-3 vote favoring the resolution followed nearly three hours of debate between management and organized labor over the issue.

Resolution 60, chiefly sponsored by Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington, opposes President Johnson's announced intent to seek repeal of Sec. 14B of the federal Taft-Hartley Act that allows states to have right to work laws.

If the President is successful in his proposal, the action would void the section of Nebraska's constitution outlawing the union shop in which persons must become union members as a condition of employment.

One of 19

Nebraska is one of 19 states with such laws. It was approved as a constitutional amendment in 1946 by the voters.

Earl T. Luff, speaking for the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce, said the organization "is not anti-labor, but is anti-anyone who tries to curtail an individual's constitutional right to work."

He said the issue "is whether the U.S. will have voluntary or compulsory union membership."

Louis E. Harris, representing the Associated Industries of Nebraska, said repeal of the state's right to work law would "force working persons to pay tribute to a union official in order to obtain a job."

Doir To Discrimination

"It opens the door for discrimination of the worst kind," he added.

Organized labor sharply disagreed with the resolution.

Richard Nisley of Omaha, state AFL-CIO president, charged the non-union employe "has no rights, but is only free to obey his bosses."

"Without strong unions, there is no right to work," he said.

Nisely said he opposed "parasites" who reaped all the union benefits without being a member and helping to pay for them.

Another opponent noted that the personal income in the right to work states is "about 20% behind that of the other states."

Ads Criticized

Don Bastenmeyer, union official and former state labor commissioner, criticized Nebraska advertisements which attempt to lure industry by publicizing the state's right to work law.

"We are saying we have labor pretty well shackled in Nebraska, so you come on out and take advantage of it," he said.

Bastenmeyer suggested that if it is necessary to reaffirm Nebraska's position on the issue, the question should be placed on the ballot for determination by the voters again.

Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha, a committee member, proposed an amendment calling for a new referendum vote on the right to work issue and opposing repeal of the Taft-Hartley section.

However, the Mahoney amendment failed on a 4-4 committee vote before a 5-3 count advanced the resolution.

Tornadoes Hit In Two Places

Tornadoes touched down near Big Springs junction and Rising City Monday night.

Opponents of a state income tax prepared Monday to launch their promised petition campaign to place the issue on the 1966 general election ballot.

The referendum drive began to take form in the wake of Gov. Frank Morrison's announcement that he will permit the income tax bill to become law without his signature.

The measure, LB797, approved by a 26-23 vote of the Legislature last week, could not be vetoed after midnight Wednesday. However, the tax does not become effective until Jan. 1, 1967.

Carpenter Endorsed

Meanwhile, Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha announced his full support of Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff as a possible gubernatorial candidate in 1966, no matter which party Carpenter might choose.

Mahoney is a former administrative assistant to Republican Rep. Glenn Cunningham.

Carpenter, who has expressed his willingness to help lead the referendum movement, is now a registered Republican, but might seek the nomination of the Democratic Party if he becomes a gubernatorial candidate.

Carpenter said he is "more likely to run today than I was yesterday."

Mahoney suggested that "regardless of which party he would run in, the people of this state would have a real governor—not a soft ,wishy-washy governor."

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha called a meeting Wednesday to map strategy for the referendum drive, inviting all senators "interested in helping the people defeat the worst bill this Legislature has ever passed."

Have Some Names

Sen. William Skarda of Omaha said some signatures have already been acquired on petitions distributed during the past few days.

Some 28,903 signatures will need to be obtained within 90 days after the 1965 session adjourns. They must be distributed in such a manner as to include at least five per cent of the electorate in each of 38 counties.

"It should be rather easy," Sen. George Syas of Omaha said.

Syas said he is not sure what organizations will participate in the drive, but he invited "all elements throughout the state to help."

A number of the bill's opponents had harsh words for Morrison.

"This makes him a has-been," Klaver insisted. "This definitely kills him politically."

Syas called the governor's action "spineless," while Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha said "the decision is consistent with his general lack of decisiveness in handling the whole matter."

Text Of Morrison's Tax Bill Statement

Major opposition to the bill has been centered in Omaha. Chief support has come from rural areas and Lincoln, seat of state government.

Sen. Hal Bauer of Lincoln, chief sponsor of the tax proposal, said the governor's decision is "consistent with his prior position in that he said he would not veto the bill even though he opposes a broadened tax base."

Bauer said a coalition of agriculture, education and labor should be sufficient to either frustrate the petition drive or defeat the referendum.

The possibility continues to exist that proponents of the bill may attempt to place a referendum to repeal the state property tax on the same ballot.

No Official Position

In Norfolk, Dr. Allen Burkhardt said the Association of Nebraska taxpayers has not yet taken an official position on whether it will actively support a referendum drive aimed at the income tax bill.

"I am sure we would cooperate," the executive secretary noted.

Resolution On Right To Work Okayed

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A legislative resolution reaffirming Nebraska's stand on the so-called right to work law was approved Monday by the Committee on Labor.

The 5-3 vote favoring the resolution followed nearly three hours of debate between management and organized labor over the issue.

Resolution 60, chiefly sponsored by Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington, opposes President Johnson's announced intent to seek repeal of Sec. 14B of the federal Taft-Hartley Act that allows states to have right to work laws.

If the President is successful in his proposal, the action would void the section of Nebraska's constitution outlawing the union shop in which persons must become union members as a condition of employment.

One of 19

Nebraska is one of 19 states with such laws. It was approved as a constitutional amendment in 1946 by the voters.

Earl T. Luff, speaking for the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce, said the organization "is not anti-labor, but is anti-anyone who tries to curtail an individual's constitutional right to work."

He said the issue "is whether the U.S. will have voluntary or compulsory union membership."

Louis E. Harris, representing the Associated Industries of Nebraska, said repeal of the state's right to work law would "force working persons to pay tribute to a union official in order to obtain a job."

Doir To Discrimination

"It opens the door for discrimination of the worst kind," he added.

Organized labor sharply disagreed with the resolution.

Richard Nisley of Omaha, state AFL-CIO president, charged the non-union employe "has no rights, but is only free to obey his bosses."

"Without strong unions, there is no right to work," he said.

Nisely said he opposed "parasites" who reaped all the union benefits without being a member and helping to pay for them.

Ads Criticized

Don Bastenmeyer, union official and former state labor commissioner, criticized Nebraska advertisements which attempt to lure industry by publicizing the state's right to work law.

"We are saying we have labor pretty well shackled in Nebraska, so you come on out and take advantage of it," he said.

Bastenmeyer suggested that if it is necessary to reaffirm Nebraska's position on the issue, the question should be placed on the ballot for determination by the voters again.

Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha, a committee member, proposed an amendment calling for a new referendum vote on the right to work issue and opposing repeal of the Taft-Hartley section.

However, the Mahoney amendment failed on a 4-4 committee vote before a 5-3 count advanced the resolution.

Ike Urges Republicans To Reform Conventions

Washington (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower urged Republicans Monday to reform their presidential nominating convention along militant lines to avoid the quadrennial confusion he said has horrified most Americans.

The former president told applauding GOP National Committee members they should set up their next convention with a dictatorial permanent chairman whose rulings would be enforced by 6-feet-4 sergeants-at-arms, reduce the number of delegates, relegate alternates to the galleries, limit demonstrations to five minutes and bar newsmen from the floor.

The general, who addressed the 1964 San Francisco convention, unburdened his mind about a matter he previously had discussed privately with party leaders.

He said that during last year's session at San Francisco a niece, whom he did not name, came to him with tears in her eyes saying she had been "molested" in a jam on the convention floor where she was serving as a minor official. He gave no details.

To Urge Study

Later in the day, GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss told a news conference that he will recommend to the National committee Tuesday appointment of a committee to study the whole question of convention procedures.

Eisenhower noted that future conventions probably will be broadcast overseas via satellite and said:

"Now what do we see? We see a picture of confusion, of noise, of impossible deportment, of indifference toward the subjects that are being discussed on the platform, in short a thing that if it happened in a business trustee meeting or even in the annual meeting of one of your corporations, you would be horrified.

"Well, I think that most of the United States is horrified by what it sees about these conventions."

Eisenhower turned at the speakers table during his speech to address the press directly, saying:

"I say all press, all publicity media, should be excluded from the floor.

"They have places. We cooperate with them. We want them, but certainly we don't want them running around and having interviews when we are having someone make a serious statement before a delegation."

Miller Sees Merit

William E. Miller, who managed the 1964 convention as GOP national chairman, said he thinks Eisenhower's suggestions "have a lot of merit." He said he had discussed them previously with the general.

"I don't think it makes so much difference whether the sergeants-at-arms are 6-feet-4 or 5-feet-2," the diminutive former vice presidential nominee said. "But something has to be done about television moving in and taking over all of the choice space on the floor."

"If we could get together with the Democrats, I think we could lay down some sane rules for TV operation. They televise football games from the stands and they can do the same thing for conventions. Probably if we cut the convention to two days instead of four, we would get more of our sessions on TV."

Eisenhower spoke at a luncheon after Bliss had told a closed session of the National Committee that he views with concern "the creation of separate organizations which solicit funds from Republicans, whether these organizations be liberal, moderate or conservative."

Bliss did not mention the Free Society Association created by Barry Goldwater, 1964 presidential nominee who did not attend Monday's meeting. Bliss previously said he feels the Goldwater group would be harmful to party unity.

House Opens Bitter Housing Bill Battle

Washington (UPI) — The House Monday opened an expected bitter fight over President Johnson's $6 billion housing bill by crushing 230 to 115 a Republican move to kill the measure.

After failing to block consideration of the bill, Republicans began a blistering attack on its most disputed feature—a plan to let the government subsidize the rents of the poor.

With the final vote expected about midweek, the bill's floor manager, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., predicted passage "by a fair margin." There appeared to be considerable bipartisan support for the nonsubsidy features of the bill.

Flak Hits Subsidies

Drawing the heaviest GOP flak was the President's proposal to subsidize the rents of certain families who otherwise would have to pay more than one-fourth of their income for decent homes.

These would be persons living in substandard housing, those displaced by highway construction or urban renewal projects, the elderly or the physically handicaped.

If the government decided, for example, that the cheapest standard housing in a given area cost $90 a month, rent subsidieies would go to families with incomes of $360 or less per month.

If a family earned only enough to afford to pay $75 a month by the on-fourth-of-income standard, the government would pay the remaining $15 a month to their new landlords.

The administration has defended the plan as an important new device to provide public housing for the nation's needy. But Republican critics called it a multi-billion-dollar dole of revolutionary proportions.

"No other piece of legislation has attracted such a universal Concensus of bitter criticism," said Rep. James Harvey, R-Mich.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., likened it to the old bridal adage: "Something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue."

Taxpayers' Blues

He added: "I think it's the taxpayers who are going to be singing the blues when they find out how much this is going to cost them."

The Senate Banking Committee last week approved a similar measure. Both bills would extend a number of existing public housing and urban renewal programs, provide for three per cent loans for college housing and permit special assistance for housing and community development under the Federal National Mortgage Association.

The key difference between the Senate and House measures is that the Senate bill would limit rent subsidies to persons eligible for public housing.

The House bill goes beyond this by covering persons who earn too much to move into public housing but at the same time cannot afford the cheapest privately financed dwelling on the market.

Cheaper

Patman said the rent subsidies could make decent homes available to eligible groups at a cost cheaper than for public housing units.

Rep. William A. Barrett, D-Pa., stressed that the new homes would be privately built and financed. "It is basically a private enterprise program subsidized with federal assistance," he said.

Federal officials have estimated that the rent subsidies could provide 800,000 new homes during the next four years. The cost would be about $50 million a year.

U.S. Would Talk With Viet Cong

Washington (AP) — Officials said Monday the United States would be willing to participate in Vietnamese peace talks at which representatives of the Communist Viet Cong were present as part of the North Vietnamese negotiating team.

At the same time officials re-emphasized the position taken by the Johnson administration that the United States is determined to negotiate only with a government —such as that of North Viet Nam—and not with the Viet Cong as a separate and independent group.

The most recent statement on U.S. willingness to have the Viet Cong represented in a conference—should the Communists ever agree to one—came from U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson in the course of a radio-television interview.

Responding to questions, Stevenson said: "I think that we've indicated that it's for Hanoi (North Viet Nam) to determine who it wants to sit at its table."

Rusk Position

Substantially the same position was taken by Secretary of State Dean Rusk in a meeting with reporters at the White House, June 18.

"It isn't normal for a conference to check on who is sitting behind me in my chair when I am at a conference," Rusk said, "and I should think that if Hanoi wants any of these people there in their delegation, that it is up to them."

Rusk also said, however, that the Viet Cong, which is the Communist force fighting in South Viet Nam, has no claim to "any special status to be treated as a government."

U.S. Will Negotiate

White House adviser McGeorge Bundy said during a television debate June 21, that the United States will negotiate with governments. He added:

"There is no barrier to serious negotiations in this question of the Viet Cong. The Viet Cong have traveled for years on North Vietnamese passports.

"It is not a difficulty from their point of view—if they are ready to see a negotiation —to pass the signal to friends, supporters, and I might say directors and controllers. It is not the question of who sits for the Communists that stands in the way of a conference."

ENGAGED . . . Beatrix, Claus von Amsberg.

Crown Princess Chose Correctly—Dutch Queen

Soestdyk Palace, Netherlands (AP) — Queen Juliana, speaking as a mother and queen of the Netherlands, told her people Monday that Crown Princess Beatrix made the right choice for her own happiness and the nation with her engagement to Claus von Amsberg, a German war veteran.

"I can assure you, it is good," the queen said to a nation split over whether the West German diplomat is acceptable as prince consort to the future queen. Wartime memories, 20 years after liberation from the Nazis, still remain with many Dutch people.

Slowly reading her 300-word statement before television cameras and over the radio, Queen Juliana said she and her husband, Prince Bernhard, and the young couple clearly understand that the engagement could raise doubts and even opposition in many of her people, especially those who lived through the war.

To Be Happy

"But ultimately they decided they should not let the objections prevail over their love," the queen said. "We are fully convinced that the union will be happy in all aspects."

Prince Bernhard, himself a German, said he was certain Von Amsberg, 38, would feel at home in the Netherlands.

"He is a hard worker and there is much to do in our country, I find," he said. "Claus is a most ideal life partner for my daughter."

At a news conference preceding the announcement from the library of the royal palace, Beatrix and Von Amsberg said they were aware of the opposition to the engagement because of his service in the German army and compulsory membership in Nazi youth and labor organizations.

"We were not at all surprised about the mixed reaction," Beatrix said. Her fiance added:

"We respect the mixed feelings but we will try to bring those people to our side."

Beatrix, 27, set no date for the wedding. Informants in the Hague, the seat of government, said it probably will be in April. By then, Von Amsberg will be a Dutch citizen.

Before the wedding, the queen will make Von Amsberg, who is of minor German nobility, a "prince of the Netherlands." With this title he will receive an annual income of 300,000 guilders ($83,000) a year.

As a deputy chief in the African section of the West German foreign ministry, Von Amsberg now earns the equivalent of $100 a week. But he apparently has outside income.

His family left Germany in 1929 to raise coffee in Tanganyika, now Tanzania, in East Africa.

He was sent for schooling in Germany from Africa in 1933 and was required as a student to join the Hitler Youth and later a Nazi labor organization. He served in a German tank unit in Italy toward the end of the war and was captured by American troops.

He said he did not like the Hitler youth group because "I hate being shoved around." He also said that he had a feeling of liberation when he was taken prisoner.

Transocean Ceremony Starts Early Bird Commercial Use

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson and five European leaders participated Monday in a round-robin telephone conversation to inaugurate commercial use of the Early Bird satellite, establishing a harmonious Space-Age "Tower of Babel."

The President and the other participants exchanged transatlantic greetings in four languages — English, French, German and Italian. Johnson hailed it as a "happy, historic occasion."

The ceremony signaled the first commercially paid use of the communications satellite service which Early Bird provides between North America and Europe. At its conclusion, the linkup was open for the first transmission of commercial phone calls, news stories and photos between Washington and European capitals.

Participants

Participating with Johnson in the telephonic exchange of greetings were British Prime Minister Harold Wilson from London; French Minister of State Louis Jacquinot from Paris; German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard from Bonn; Swiss President Hans-Peter Tschudi from Bern and Italian cabinet official Ramon Gaspari from Rome. Their remarks were amplified and broadcast to a group celebrating the occasion at a Washington hotel.

Johnson, Wilson and Tschudi spoke in English, Jacquinot in French, Erhard in German an Gaspari in Italian.

Erhard said, "May many calls every day connect the old and the new continents."

Responding to Johnson's message, Wilson said, "You, Mr. President, have rightly said that this is an historic occasion."

Tschudi said, "Mr. President, I thank you for your friendly message."

Stresses Joint Effort

The President, speaking into a beige telephone from his White House cabinet room, stressed that the commercial satellite venture was a joint effort on the part of 44 nations.

"This service is another bond in the many ties that join us together across the Atlantic," he said. "It is especially fitting that this historic step comes not as the achievement of a single nation — but of many nations.

"For us in the United States, that is especially gratifying. Since the earliest days of the age of space, we have urged—as we still do — that all nations join together to explore space together and to develop together its peaceful uses."

The 85-pound Early Bird satellite is operated by the Communications Satellite Cor. (COMSAT), under an international agreement signed by the 44 countries.

Duty-Free Limitation Accepted

Washington (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee reversed itself Monday and accepted President Johnson's recommendation for a $50 duty-free exemption on purchases brought back from abroad by U.S. tourists.

At a morning session the panel voted 8 to 7 to go along with the House on a limit of $100 based on retail value of the purchases.

But at a hastily-called afternoon session, the committee backed up and agreed to go along with the $50 ceiling, also based on retail value. The vote this time was 11 to 6. Sen. Carl T .Curtis, R-Neb., voted against the measure both times.

The exemption used to be $500, wholesale value, but was cut some years ago to $100, wholesale value, as part of the administration's efforts to cut the balance of payments deficit.

In the afternoon, two senators who had voted for $100 switched — Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and Vance Hartke, D-Ind. Two senators who were absent in the morning voted for $50 in the afternoon, Sens. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., and Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill.

The Senate committee kept the $200 limit for the Virgin Islands. But it reduced from a gallon to a quart the amount of liquor that can be brought in duty-free and applied this to the Virgin Islands as well as to other countries.

A new Volkswagen doesn't depreciate wildly the minute you turn the key.
In a sense, the older it gets the more valuable it gets.
So that in 5 years, the same VW will be worth more than some 5-year-old cars that cost twice as much to begin with.
One reason is that it takes a real car nut to tell a clean used one from a new one.
VWs always look like VWs.
Another reason is that they hold up.
A VW is put together so well, it's practically airtight. (It helps to open a window to close a door. Even on old ones.)
And, new VW or old, there's all that nice money you keep saving on gas, oil, tires, insurance, and repairs.
So you can get a nice price for it. (If, for some strange reason, you'd want to sell.)
It's the kind of economy that people are willing to pay an arm and a leg for.

Prince Bernhard, himself a German, said he was certain Von Amsberg, 38, would feel at home in the Netherlands.

"He is a hard worker and there is much to do in our country, I find," he said. "Claus is a most ideal life partner for my daughter."

At a news conference preceding the announcement from the library of the royal palace, Beatrix and Von Amsberg said they were aware of the opposition to the engagement because of his service in the German army and compulsory membership in Nazi youth and labor organizations.

"We were not at all surprised about the mixed reaction," Beatrix said. Her fiance added:

"We respect the mixed feelings but we will try to bring those people to our side."

Beatrix, 27, set no date for the wedding. Informants in the Hague, the seat of government, said it probably will be in April. By then, Von Amsberg will be a Dutch citizen.

Before the wedding, the queen will make Von Amsberg, who is of minor German nobility, a "prince of the Netherlands." With this title he will receive an annual income of 300,000 guilders ($83,000) a year.

As a deputy chief in the African section of the West German foreign ministry, Von Amsberg now earns the equivalent of $100 a week. But he apparently has outside income.

His family left Germany in 1929 to raise coffee in Tanganyika, now Tanzania, in East Africa.

He was sent for schooling in Germany from Africa in 1933 and was required as a student to join the Hitler Youth and later a Nazi labor organization. He served in a German tank unit in Italy toward the end of the war and was captured by American troops.

He said he did not like the Hitler youth group because "I hate being shoved around." He also said that he had a feeling of liberation when he was taken prisoner.

Transocean Ceremony Starts Early Bird Commercial Use

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson and five European leaders participated Monday in a round-robin telephone conversation to inaugurate commercial use of the Early Bird satellite, establishing a harmonious Space-Age "Tower of Babel."

The President and the other participants exchanged transatlantic greetings in four languages — English, French, German and Italian. Johnson hailed it as a "happy, historic occasion."

The ceremony signaled the first commercially paid use of the communications satellite service which Early Bird provides between North America and Europe. At its conclusion, the linkup was open for the first transmission of commercial phone calls, news stories and photos between Washington and European capitals.

Participants

Participating with Johnson in the telephonic exchange of greetings were British Prime Minister Harold Wilson from London; French Minister of State Louis Jacquinot from Paris; German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard from Bonn; Swiss President Hans-Peter Tschudi from Bern and Italian cabinet official Ramon Gaspari from Rome. Their remarks were amplified and broadcast to a group celebrating the occasion at a Washington hotel.

Johnson, Wilson and Tschudi spoke in English, Jacquinot in French, Erhard in German an Gaspari in Italian.

Erhard said, "May many calls every day connect the old and the new continents."

Responding to Johnson's message, Wilson said, "You, Mr. President, have rightly said that this is an historic occasion."

Tschudi said. "Mr. President, I thank you for your friendly message."

Stresses Joint Effort

The President, speaking into a beige telephone from his White House cabinet room, stressed that the commercial satellite venture was a joint effort on the part of 44 nations.

"This service is another bond in the many ties that join us together across the Atlantic," he said. "It is especially fitting that this historic step comes not as the achievement of a single nation — but of many nations.

"For us in the United States, that is especially gratifying. Since the earliest days of the age of space, we have urged—as we still do — that all nations join together to explore space together and to develop together its peaceful uses."

The 85-pound Early Bird satellite is operated by the Communications Satellite Cor, (COMSAT), under an international agreement signed by the 44 countries.

Duty-Free Limitation Accepted

Washington (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee reversed itself Monday and accepted President Johnson's recommendation for a $50 duty-free exemption on purchases brought back from abroad by U.S. tourists.

At a morning session the panel voted 8 to 7 to go along with the House on a limit of $100 based on retail value of the purchases.

But at a hastily-called afternoon session, the committee backed up and agreed to go along with the $50 ceiling, also based on retail value. The vote this time was 11 to 6. Sen. Carl T .Curtis, R-Neb., voted against the measure both times.

The exemption used to be $500, wholesale value, but was cut some years ago to $100, wholesale value, as part of the administration's efforts to cut the balance of payments deficit.

In the afternoon, two senators who had voted for $100 switched — Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and Vance Hartke, D-Ind. Two senators who were absent in the morning voted for $50 in the afternoon, Sens. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., and Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill.

The Senate committee kept the $200 limit for the Virgin Islands. But it reduced from a gallon to a quart the amount of liquor that can be brought in duty-free and applied this to the Virgin Islands as well as to other countries.

One of the nice things about owning it is selling it.

A new Volkswagen doesn't depreciate wildly the minute you turn the key.

In a sense, the older it gets the more valuable it gets.

So that in 5 years, the same VW will be worth more than some 5-year-old cars that cost twice as much to begin with.

One reason is that it takes a real car nut to tell a clean used one from a new one.

VWs always look like VWs.

Another reason is that they hold up.

And, new VW or old, there's all that nice money you keep saving on gas, oil, tires, insurance, and repairs.

So you can get a nice price for it. (If, for some strange reason, you'd want to sell.)

It's the kind of economy that people are willing to pay an arm and a leg for.

Gov. Morrison Will Not Veto Income Tax Bill

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov Frank Morrison announced Monday he will permit the state income tax bill to become law without his signature.

But he said he hopes the issue will be placed before the voters by referendum petition in the November, 1966, general election.

Morrison made the announcement at a special news conference regarding LB797, which will go into effect Jan. 1, 1967. His announced action was not unexpected.

The historic measure, approved by the Legislature on a 26-23 vote last week, marks the first change in Nebraska's tax structure in 100 years.

Plenty Of Time

The governor said, "There is plenty of time for every state senator, organization and citizen who opposes the income tax to sign a referendum petition and place this issue before the people at the next general election."

"I have faith in the majority of people of this state to decide how they wish to tax themselves."

Opponents of LB797 have vowed a referendum petition drive. They will need to collect 28,903 signatures in 38 counties within a 90-day period. In each county, the signatures must equal five per cent of the total vote for governor in 1964.

Morrison said his position on taxation is the same now as when he was a candidate in 1960, 1962 and 1964.

Always Opposed

"I have always opposed a state income tax and have outlined my reasons with all the vigor at my command."

Morrison re-stated that he would "not veto any tax measure passed by the Legislature for any reason other than mechanical problems."

Until the Legislature amended LB562 which "removes the mechanical problem" regarding LB797 to the building construction program bill, Morrison said, "I had no alternative other than to veto the income tax bill."

Morrison said he announced in advance, and Sen. Hal Bauer, chief introducer of the income tax bill, "quickly recognized the problem . . . and pledged the Legislature to solve it."

Morrison said the major mechanical problem in the income tax bill has been removed in the opinion of the attorney general and tax commissioner's office.

"The transition of a tax system in existence for nearly 100 years presents many problems, but we will meet them when they arise."

Morrison said he would allow the bill to become law "without my signature and without my endorsement."

Text Of Morrison's Tax Bill Statement

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Monday he will allow the income tax bill to become law without his signature. Following is the complete text of his statement:

Serious confusion exists today with reference to Nebraska's tax situation. Facts and reason have been blurred by distortion and passion. There are obviously those among us who would convert reasonable men into warring factions. This threat to the orderly process of government must be put to an end.

Taxes are the price we pay for civilization. Without taxes we would have no public schools and no government. Without these, life, liberty and property rights as we know them today would not exist.

In our free American society the people decide the kind and amount of taxes they wish to pay. The people have empowered their legislature to speak for them on taxes. The governor can recommend but he cannot pass tax laws.

My position on taxation is the same today as it was as a candidate in 1960, 1962 and 1964. My position on taxes has been clear and often stated and I do not propose to betray it. This year I spelled out for the Legislature,in detail, a series of excise taxes which I felt were necessary for the implementation of programs vital to the advancement of our great state. I have always opposed a state income tax and have outlined my reasons with all the vigor at my command. However, there are things infinitely more important than our position on income tax. What are they? Truth, character, the right of every man to express his own opinions without threats or abuse, the right of men to disagree. The preservation of majority rule and American constitutional government are more important than any tax measure.

My own position that I would not veto any tax measure passed by the Legislature for any reason other than mechanical problems has been intentionally or otherwise misconstrued by some, although I have spelled out why a governor should not veto a tax measure for other than mechanical or constitutional problems.

The Legislature overruled my tax program and substituted an income tax. If I were to veto the Legislature's income tax bill it would not bring to life my tax program. It would in effect substitute increased property taxes for the income tax. I do not believe the veto power of the governor was ever intended for such a purpose. For me to change my position on this veto question from what it has been each time I was elected governor would destroy my integrity, my character, and my honesty. This I do not propose to do.

Extreme difficulties in the field of administration appeared as a result of legislative adoption of LB797, the income tax bill. Upon its passage on Tuesday, June 22, Clarence Meyer, the attorney general, pointed out to me that the income tax bill and the Nebraska Constitution would make it all but impossible to carry the building program authorized by LB890, passed just the day before. The attorney general, the tax commissioner's office, and I were in agreement on this matter. This problem, in my opinion, would have required a governor's veto unless corrected.

Following my consultation with the attorney general and the tax commissioner's office on June 22, I announced to the Legislature, and I quote: "It is my purpose to announce to you in advance that I would have no alternative but to veto LB797 in its present form, because it would make mechanically impossible the implementation of LB890."

My position on the question of a veto has been widely misconstrued, distorted, and misquoted. This is a tragedy which must be corrected. You will recall Senator Bauer, the chief introducer and proponent of the income tax bill, quickly recognized the problem, admitted its existence, and pledged the Legislature to solve it.

On Thursday, June 24, after my personally delivered message, the Legislature unanimously adopted an amendment to LB562 which in my opinion and that of the attorney general's office and the tax commissioner's office removes the mechanical problem mentioned in my message. I know of no other mechanical problems which are not in the process of solution. However, it is possible that there are some problems we do not anticipate at this time. The transition of a tax system in existence for nearly 100 years presents many problems. We will meet them when they arise.

This income tax does not go into effect until January of 1967. There is plenty of time for every state senator, organization, and citizen who opposes an income tax to sign a referendum petition and place this issue before the people at the next general election.

I have faith in the majority of the people of this state to decide how they wish to tax themselves. They can decide it at the next general election.

In the meantime, your governor will continue to work for perfection in the administration of state government, the role assigned him by our Constitution.

For the reasons herein outlined, there is no reasonable or honorable alternative than my allowing LB797, the income tax bill, to become law without my signature and without my endorsement.

Gas Foils Bank Burglary

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Steinauer—A protective tear gas system apparently foiled a break-in attempt at the Bank of Steinauer.

Punched in an effort to gain entrance, the locking mechanism of the bank's vault released tear gas that halted further tampering.

The dial was knocked off but the door was still locked when the break-in was discovered.

Employe Mrs. Rita Coughlin found the bank's front door unlocked and the building filled with gas as she went to work at 7:30 a.m. Monday. It was believed the break-in occurred Sunday night, although president John Steinauer said it "could possibly have taken place Saturday night."

"Practically every drawer had been pulled out, but as far as we know nothing was taken," said the president. He said the institution, a family venture dating back to 1888, has deposits of approximately $400,000.

With all its cash presumably still in the jammed vault, the bank was unable to transact cash business Monday morning. Cashier Charles Jasa and teller Robert Gyhra said the vault might not be opened until Tuesday.

Aided by the State Safety Patrol and FBI investigators, Pawnee County Sheriff Charles Hall theorized that two men were involved in the attempt. Entrance apparently was made by forcing a rear window, although the unlocked front door indicated this was the exit route.

Steinauer said this was the first theft attempt in the bank's 77-year history. The village carrying the family name is in northern Pawnee County and has a population of 124.

CONSUMERS OKAY BID

Columbus — Consumers Public Power District Board of Directors approved a contract bid in the amount of $2 5 million for the construction of the 230,000 volt, three-phase transmission line between Sidney and North Platte.

The bid was awarded to the Dominion Construction Company of Lincoln during the board's regular monthly meeting at Columbus

Construction of this new 120-mile-long power line should begin about August 1 following the completion of the engineers' surveys. Plans are to have this facility in operation before the summer power loads of 1966.

The board also approved bids for triplexed conductor cable, network cable and neutral cable in the amount of $15,230. The bids were awarded to General Cable Corporation of Lincoln for $7,293 and the Okonite Company, Kansas City, for $6,937.

In other business, the board approved construction work orders totaling $101,720 for improvements to customers in both Consumers' eastern and western systems.

Expect Wheat Harvest To Commence Rolling

The winter wheat harvest is expected to get rolling this week along the southern border of Nebraska and in the southeastern part of the state, government crop observers reported Monday

The crop's progress is about 10 days behind last year but about normal, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics

Cutting has begun in a few of the early fields in the extreme southeast, the division said.

By last weekend, heading was finished in virtually all parts of the state and about three-fifths of the crop had turned color.

Stem rust infestations have become apparent in a number of counties and damage is likely to be significant in late fields which are heavily infested, the report said.

Other observations

Oats has shown good to excellent development and about 90% of the crop has headed, while about 40% has turned. Weeds are becoming a problem.

Row crops generally need warm weather and sunshine to promote plant development Some early planted corn is expected to begin tasseling soon, but some of the late replanted corn shows little development.

Weeds are a serious problem in most corn and sorghum fields.

Gov. Morrison Will Not Veto Income Tax Bill

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Monday he will permit the state income tax bill to become law without his signature.

But he said he hopes the issue will be placed before the voters by referendum petition in the November, 1966, general election.

Morrison made the announcement at a special news conference regarding LB797, which will go into effect Jan. 1, 1967. His announced action was not unexpected.

The historic measure, approved by the Legislature on a 26-23 vote last week, marks the first change in Nebraska's tax structure in 100 years.

Plenty Of Time

The governor said, "There is plenty of time for every state senator, organization and citizen who opposes the income tax to sign a referendum petition and place this issue before the people at the next general election."

"I have faith in the majority of people of this state to decide how they wish to tax themselves."

Opponents of LB797 have vowed a referendum petition drive. They will need to collect 28,903 signatures in 38 counties within a 90-day period. In each county, the signatures must equal five per cent of the total vote for governor in 1964.

Morrison said his position on taxation is the same now as when he was a candidate in 1960, 1962 and 1964.

Always Opposed

"I have always opposed a state income tax and have outlined my reasons with all the vigor at my command."

Morrison re-stated that he would "not veto any tax measure passed by the Legislature for any reason other than mechanical problems."

Until the Legislature amended LB562 which "removes the mechanical problem" regarding LB797 to the building construction program bill, Morrison said, "I had no alternative other than to veto the income tax bill."

Morrison said he announced in advance, and Sen. Hal Bauer, chief introducer of the income tax bill, "quickly recognized the problem . . . and pledged the Legislature to solve it."

Morrison said the major mechanical problem in the income tax bill has been removed in the opinion of the attorney general and tax commissioner's office.

"The transition of a tax system in existence for nearly 100 years presents many problems, but we will meet them when they arise."

Morrison said he would allow the bill to become law "without my signature and without my endorsement."

Text Of Morrison's Tax Bill Statement

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Monday he will allow the income tax bill to become law without his signature. Following is the complete text of his statement:

Serious confusion exists today with reference to Nebraska's tax situation. Facts and reason have been blurred by distortion and passion. There are obviously those among us who would convert reasonable men into warring factions. This threat to the orderly process of government must be put to an end.

Taxes are the price we pay for civilization. Without taxes we would have no public schools and no government. Without these, life, liberty and property rights as we know them today would not exist.

The preservation of majority rule and American constitutional government are more important than any tax measure.

My own position that I would not veto any tax measure passed by the Legislature for any reason other than mechanical problems has been intentionally or otherwise misconstrued by some, although I have spelled out why a governor should not veto a tax measure for other than mechanical or constitutional problems.

The Legislature overruled my tax program and substituted an income tax. If I were to veto the Legislature's income tax bill it would not bring to life my tax program. It would in effect substitute increased property taxes for the income tax. I do not believe the veto power of the governor was ever intended for such a purpose. For me to change my position on this veto question from what it has been each time I was elected governor would destroy my integrity, my character, and my honesty. This I do not propose to do.

Extreme difficulties in the field of administration appeared as a result of legislative adoption of LB797, the income tax bill. Upon its passage on Tuesday, June 22, Clarence Meyer, the attorney general, pointed out to me that the income tax bill and the Nebraska Constitution would make it all but impossible to carry the building program authorized by LB890, passed just the day before. The attorney general, the tax commissioner's office, and I were in agreement on this matter. This problem, in my opinion, would have required a governor's veto unless corrected.

Following my consultation with the attorney general and the tax commissioner's office on June 22, I announced to the Legislature, and I quote: "It is my purpose to announce to you in advance that I would have no alternative but to veto LB797 in its present form, because it would make mechanically impossible the implementation of LB890."

My position on the question of a veto has been widely misconstrued, distorted, and misquoted. This is a tragedy which must be corrected. You will recall Senator Bauer, the chief introducer and proponent of the income tax bill, quickly recognized the problem, admitted its existence, and pledged the Legislature to solve it.

On Thursday, June 24, after my personally delivered message, the Legislature unanimously adopted an amendment to LB562 which in my opinion and that of the attorney general's office and the tax commissioner's office removes the mechanical problem mentioned in my message. I know of no other mechanical problems which are not in the process of solution. However, it is possible that there are some problems we do not anticipate at this time. The transition of a tax system in existence for nearly 100 years presents many problems. We will meet them when they arise.

This income tax does not go into effect until January of 1967. There is plenty of time for every state senator, organization, and citizen who opposes an income tax to sign a referendum petition and place this issue before the people at the next general election.

I have faith in the majority of the people of this state to decide how they wish to tax themselves. They can decide it at the next general election.

In the meantime, your governor will continue to work for perfection in the administration of state government, the role assigned him by our Constitution.

For the reasons herein outlined, there is no reasonable or honorable alternative than my allowing LB797, the income tax bill, to become law without my signature and without my endorsement.

Gas Foils Bank Burglary

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Steinauer—A protective tear gas system apparently foiled a break-in attempt at the Bank of Steinauer.

Punched in an effort to gain entrance, the locking mechanism of the bank's vault released tear gas that halted further tampering.

The dial was knocked off but the door was still locked when the break-in was discovered.

Employe Mrs. Rita Coughlin found the bank's front door unlocked and the building filled with gas as she went to work at 7:30 a.m. Monday. It was believed the break-in occurred Sunday night, although president John Steinauer said it "could possibly have taken place Saturday night."

"Practically every drawer had been pulled out, but as far as we know nothing was taken," said the president. He said the institution, a family venture dating back to 1888, has deposits of approximately $400,000.

With all its cash presumably still in the jammed vault, the bank was unable to transact cash business Monday morning. Cashier Charles Jasa and teller Robert Gyhra said the vault might not be opened until Tuesday.

Aided by the State Safety Patrol and FBI investigators, Pawnee County Sheriff Charles Hall theorized that two men were involved in the attempt. Entrance apparently was made by forcing a rear window, although the unlocked front door indicated this was the exit route.

Steinauer said this was the first theft attempt in the bank's 77-year history. The village carrying the family name is in northern Pawnee County and has a population of 124.

CONSUMERS OKAY BID

Columbus — Consumers Public Power District Board of Directors approved a contract bid in the amount of $2.5 million for the construction of the 230,000 volt, three-phase transmission line between Sidney and North Platte.

The bid was awarded to the Dominion Construction Company of Lincoln during the board's regular monthly meeting at Columbus.

Construction of this new 120-mile-long power line should begin about August 1 following the completion of the engineers' surveys. Plans are to have this facility in operation before the summer power loads of 1966.

The board also approved bids for triplexed conductor cable, network cable and neutral cable in the amount of $15,230. The bids were awarded to General Cable Corporation of Lincoln for $7,293 and the Okonite Company, Kansas City, for $6,937.

In other business, the board approved construction work orders totaling $101,720 for improvements to customers in both Consumers' eastern and western systems.

Expect Wheat Harvest To Commence Rolling

The winter wheat harvest is expected to get rolling this week along the southern border of Nebraska and in the southeastern part of the state, government crop observers reported Monday.

The crop's progress is about 10 days behind last year but about normal, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federral Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Cutting has begun in a few of the early fields in the extreme southeast, the division said.

By last weekend, heading was finished in virtually all parts of the state and about three-fifths of the crop had turned color.

Stem rust infestations have become apparent in a number of counties and damage is likely to be significant in late fields which are heavily infested, the report said.

Other observations:

Oats has shown good to excellent development and about 90% of the crop has headed, while about 40% has turned. Weeds are becoming a problem.

Row crops generally need warm weather and sunshine to promote plant development Some early planted corn is expected to begin tasseling soon, but some of the late replanted corn shows little development.

Weeds are a serious problem in most corn and sorghum fields.

Tax Over Another Hurdle

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The battered income tax for Nebraska has cleared another hurdle with announcement by Gov. Frank Morrison that he would let the measure, approved by the Legislature, become law without his signature. That could be the final hurdle for the bill or it could be only the beginning of a long and bitter struggle. There is strong talk of a referendum action to place the measure on the ballot for the 1966 election.

At this point, however, the petition movement for a vote can be only speculation. The governor said that he would allow the historic broadening of the state's tax base to become law "without my signature and without my endorsement." His action ended a week of high controversy that started when he announced he would veto the income tax bill because of what he said were conflicts in it with the also approved six-year capital expenditures building program. The big weakness in the governor's first position was its excessiveness.

No Official Approval

Not everyone even agrees that a conflict did exist between the two bills. Some believe there was no conflict at all while others believed the conflict existed between the capital spending program and the bill that removes the state from the property tax field. And those who grant the existence of a conflict did not consider it something to make the income tax an impossibility.

What they would grant was that the conflict would have to be resolved and could be resolved in a number of ways. Rather than grounds for a positive veto, they considered it grounds for some further action by the Legislature. It is this course that was taken and to which the governor has now acceded.

Politically, the governor has undoubtedly lost ground in the income tax events of the past week but how much is quite an uncertainty. He promised a veto, goes one argument, and now has backed down. That will just cost him the Omaha vote. He said he wouldn't veto the bill and then he said he would veto it, goes another line. Even though he will now let it become law, he has lost the votes of all income tax backers. That is just playing a little too loosely with thousands of voters. And the governor would probably say that it is playing a little loosely with him, too. The governor was drawing some fine lines in the matter during the week and if his position was not properly represented, a share of the fault lies with his own failure to make himself clear.

His political loss will come more from the ranks of those very close to the situation than from the ranks of the average voter. Certainly, opponents of the income tax saw a real windfall in the governor's announced plans for a veto in view of the conflict he saw. They thought that victory had suddenly been snatched for them from the jaws of defeat and it was a glorious prospect for them to behold. On the other hand, proponents of the measure were dumfounded. They thought the governor would not veto the bill unless he saw some legal impossibility to it and they could see no such impossibility.

For these people, a hard-won victory was suddenly turned into an agonizing defeat. In the end, the losers are still losers, the winners are still winners and the governor is about where everyone thought he was in the first place. The trouble for the governor is that some among the opponents and proponents feel they were mistreated in the process.

The governor undoubtedly believes he was fair and consistent in all that he did but the opinion of others is a matter beyond his control. How much of what went on will be understood and considered by the electorate in general is another question. With the vast majority of people, the governor will be judged on the basis of his opposition to an income tax but his refusal to use the veto on philosophical grounds.

Barring a successful referendum action, the state will now have an income tax for the first time in its nearly 100 years of history. As accurately as can be predicted, this means an income tax rate of 1.6 percent on net taxable income in place of a 9.14 mills property tax at the state level. The tax will become effective Jan. 1, 1967, at which time it will probably be closer to 2 percent to replace a levy that would have climbed by that time to about 15 mills. The tax will be applied against income after the standard federal exemptions have been taken and deductions made.

Effective In 1967

No tax will be levied against Social Security or private pension income or any other income not taxed by the federal government's income tax. The change is historic because it contributes heavily to tax equity in Nebraska as well as providing state government an adequate means of income to meet demands.

No Easy Answer

One would have to grant that eastern Nebraska interests have presented a strong case in support of an Interstate "shortcut" route between Salina, Kan., and Sioux City, Ia. The route, about parallel to existing U.S. Highway 77, would serve a heavy population area and make maximum use of existing Interstate mileage constructed on a north-south pattern.

Actually, the proposal is not in competition to any other suggested route through the state but would conflict in the matter of timing or priority. More in the nature of completely new routes have been proposed through Nebraska along lines parallel to both U.S. Highways 81 and 281.

It is doubtful that both the U.S. 81 and 281 routes would be added to the Interstate system in the near future. When you put all three proposals together, the question of which ones have the most merit and which one should come first is a difficult one to answer.

Part of the answer will be provided by state and federal standards as to established service areas. In other words, how far is the public expected to travel in order to reach an Interstate for long-distance traveling? Is Lincoln now considered to be served on a north-south basis by Interstate 29 that runs from Texas to Canada and skirts the eastern edge of Nebraska?

If the proposed "shortcut" route is constructed, will it be intended to serve the area that would otherwise be served by the proposal for a route along U.S. 81? Geography has not been much if any factor in past Interstate route planning.

If population factors continue as a dominant theme in future Interstate routing, the "shortcut" route will be hard to beat. But while this factor favors the "shortcut" in Nebraska, it is this factor that shortchanged the state with no north-south mileage in competition with the rest of the nation.

Attitude Makes A Difference

United Press International reported an interesting remark made by TV personality Virginia Graham. Celebrating her 30th wedding anniversary, she was asked the secret of a successful marriage. Her reply was precise: "Don't get a divorce."

There may be some oversimplification there but the lady has a mighty good point. Not all marriages can be saved from disaster but the number that are will depend upon the effort made by the parties involved.

If marriage is entered into and family life pursued as something of convenience, custom, etc., then difficulties are likely to develop. If it is a state of life you pursue without any determination, chances are you will make a flop of it. The fact is that no state of life is ever perfect and people should live with the knowledge of that reality.

Then, when a conflict develops, perhaps the first thing they think about will not be the ease of separation but the value in reconciliation. In that thought, perhaps they will find the motivation to look a little harder for a solution to the problem that has developed rather than surrendering in despair.

It takes a little work or effort now and then, a little sacrifice and maybe a little swallowing of pride for any marriage to bring the happiness for which it was intended but there are few things in this world any different from that. At the same time, there are few things in this world that pay any better dividends than a successful marriage. There will be times when such success, for good and valid reasons, just isn't in the cards but this should be the exception, not the rule.

Big Arms Market

One learns from the U.S. Defense Department that its men are over in Saudi Arabia trying to get the lion's share of that country's $100,000,000 arms purchase. If they get most of the order, it will be quite a windfall.

Indeed the U.S.A. is quite pleased with prospects for arms sales, here and there, during the coming two years. Henry J. Kluss, Jr., deputy assistant secretary of defense for the Pentagon's arms sale department, says the U.S. is selling $1.5 billion in arms a year and is looking forward to a $5.4 billion market the coming two years. He sees the market as a good means for getting rid of our weapons surplus and our obsolete weapons. Our competitors are Russia, England and France, and rivalry is keen. There were $135 billion in new weapons manufactured last year worldwide.

We have some moral restraint. We will not sell government weapons to Latin America nor to Africa. We leave the latter field to Russia plus private used weapons agencies and perhaps private manufacturers.

We do not sell nuclear weapons, for obvious reasons.

Well, that is the picture. The major nations talk peace as hard as they can but sell weapons as fast as they can.

One cannot believe the world would buy fewer weapons if the U.S.A. got out of the market. Someone, somewhere will make and sell the weapons. But one thing is certain, one cannot put out a fire by throwing kerosene on it. And as long as there is going to be a machine gun for every man, woman and child and someone to yell, "Go!" our talk of world peace will remain windy.

Senate Considers Coleman Judgeship

WASHINGTON — Today, before the Senate Judiciary Committee, former Gov. James P. Coleman of Mississippi, an old friend of President Johnson, comes up for confirmation to be a judge of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

This is the circuit which has handled about 75 per cent of the important civil rights cases. Its members have the power to influence the progress of Negro voting rights, school integration, and equality of job opportunities in the South for many years to come.

Gov. Coleman, an able lawyer, brilliant political strategist, and a charming likeable gentleman, should make a good impression before the Senate committee. Not only will he be able to handle himself well, but he will testify under the benevolent jurisdiction of Chairman Jim Eastland, also from Mississippi, who rules the Judiciary Committee with a firm hand and jaunty, cocksure manner.

On the committee, however, are some important new senators who have tipped the balance away from the old Dixiecrat-Republican coalition which once dominated the confirmation of judges. They are Teddy Kennedy, brother of the late President; Birch Bayh of Indiana; Quentin Burdick of North Dakota; and Joe Tydings of Maryland, all fairly new, all with vigorous ideas of their own.

In addition there are Phil Hart of Michigan, Tom Dodd of Connecticut, and Ed Long of Missouri, all for civil rights, though easily swayed by the White House when the President wants an old friend confirmed.

But three other Republicans, Jacob Javits, N.Y., Hiram Fong, Hawaii, and Hugh Scott, Pa., are likely to vote no. And if the four young Democrats—Kennedy, Bayh, Burdick and Tydings—team up with them, the confirmation of Coleman will depend on how smoothly the White House massages the ego of Ed Long, Tom Dodd and Phil Hart.

Ego-massaging and whip-cracking probably will decide Coleman's confirmatiion in the end. But, with some senators, testimony will count, too. And Senate testimony is almost certain to show that Jim Coleman was one of the shrewdest opponents of the Supreme Court ever to be nominated to a judicial post to carry out decrees of the Supreme Court.

As governor of Mississippi in 1956, he helped pass the "interposition law" which directed the governor and every executive branch of Mississippi government "to prohibit any lawful, peaceful and constitutioinal means the implementation of or the compliance with the integration decisions of the United States Supreme Court."

An Assessment Of Ben Bella's Failure

WASHINGTON — The rush of world events threatens to obscure the bitter lesson of Algeria.

The score as it is being added up here in the aftermath of Ben Bella's overthrow is a massive defeat for Red China. For two years or more, Chou has personally directed an effort to rally all African and Asian states behind the Peking line. The conference was to be a sounding board for intensive denunciation of the United States.

It is the lesson of decline and decay that is significant. Algeria while it was a French colony exported large amounts of grain and wines. Large farms cultivated under the colonial system were highly successful procedures.

In recent years food supplied for the most part by the United States has fed up to one-third of the Algerian population. Without it there would have been mass hunger and perhaps even famine. This help through PL 480, the law covering the disposal of American surplus farm products for local currencies, went on while Ben Bella was trying to establish his leadership in Africa by delivering arms to the Congolese rebels.

France through these same years has been providing aid at a rate of about $100,000,000 annually. Of that amount roughly half has been provided without strings so that it could go to make up budgetary deficits or for any purpose.

In assessing the failure of Ben Bella, the background of independence achieved in 1962 must be taken into account. Independence came after a seven-year Moslem revolt against French rule with fierce fighting against French forces at one time numbering more than a half-million. The horrors of what was, in effect, a civil war—torture, violence, widespread sabotage — were perpetrated by both sides.

Once a truce had been signed and the Algerians voted for independence, Ben Bella as head of the new government moved rapidly to replace French managers and technicians. This was understandable in light of intense nationalistic feeling and the hatreds growing out of the war. But, unfortunately, Algerians lacked the skills and the discipline to take over. That was true on the farms as well as in industry.

The number of French in Algeria has dropped from about 1,000,000 to less than 100,000. With this more or less forced migration — the French were made to understand they had no place in the new Algeria — went virtually all the trained personnel that had kept the country running.

Granted this great handicap, the fact remains that Ben Bella never faced up to the reality of beginning again with training programs as part of a determined effort to build the country on a new basis.

The estimate of the specialists here is that Ben Bella's overthrow by Col. Houari Boumedienne had little to do with the crisis of food and employment. It was a power struggle with Boumedienne moving before he was himself removed.

Patchwork Prairie Country

The compulsion of June is working away, sending forth the lush second growth of alfalfa and filling the pasture margins with a variety of wild flowers. The fields of wheat are turning under the hot midsummer sun and the corn will soon be laid by. Farmers work in partnership with nature now and the hours are long.

June has a special sound of compulsion, too . . . the busy flight of the honeybee hurrying to the hive with its cargo of sweet nectar. It is said that you can hear the corn grow on a humid midsummer's night. I have never attuned my ears to this sound, though I must admit new leaves seem to uncurl overnight. The streams and meadow creeks are no longer wild and tempestuous as they were when spring rains sent flooding water over the banks. They gurgle slowly now in a relaxed mood . . . a place to go but in no hurry to get there . . .

June has its own special scents, too . . . fields of yellow sweet clover, pungent with a zesty fragrance, or milkweed with pompons of florets letting drift their bland, pleasant odor . . .

You have to be out in it to enjoy June, I thought one evening just as the sun was setting. It was a bit chill — too cool for the mosquitoes to be annoying but just right for me to pick gooseberries.

I was hidden low among the bushes, stripping the huge berries that hung like emerald gems along the branches, listening to the sounds of our town as I worked. The backyard that enclosed the garden was bordered by a wide wooden picket fence. I heard the children of the neighborhood troop down the back alley after a baseball game, bidding each other good bye. Back doors slammed and dogs barked their welcome. Loud and clear, the six o'clock whistle blew. There was a temporary flurry of activity as everyone hurried home in cars—the screeching of brakes — the dust down the side streets.

What delicious mingled smells of cooking food I detected. The family next to where I was working was having porkchops. I became very hungry as I wondered what I would make for our own supper when I returned home.

Soon the back door opened and the lady of the house stepped into the yard.

"Here, Pooch! Here Pooch!" she called in her most enticing voice. She had a plateful of bones — pork chop bones, they were, too. Pooch came charging through the neighborhood, past the fence where I was picking gooseberries, homeward bound.

Then I had a horrible thought. Suppose the lady gave the plateful of bones a vigorous fling, right into the gooseberry patch. Suppose Pooch, with his tongue hanging from his mouth, drooling for a bone, should also jump the fence into the nice little garden where I was sitting.

I could visualize the wrecked garden, the befuddled housewife, the yelping dog and myself right in the middle of the melee. I had enough berries, the bones in my body were all in the proper place, the garden was still very orderly and Pooch was still on his side of the fence. If I hurried, I could keep it that way. I quickly ended my task and gingerly strolled to the car.

The pie I made the next day was very good, as only gooseberry pies can be. The remaining berries went into the deep-freeze beside the cherries and rhubarb. Next will be the harvest apples that are already of good size but as yet showing no signs of turning yellow. I shall have to do some rearranging before I add them to the deepfreeze.

A bulging deep freeze gives me much satisfaction and I will gladly take the time to make room for added food. Good eating is such a nice pastime . . . one of our favorite ways of enjoying life.

Income Tax Bill

West Point, Neb.

Here are excerpts from a letter I have sent to Gov. Frank Morrison:

"In the past I have listened with admiring approval to some of your more philosophical speeches. I felt that here was a progressive governor, at least in thought if not in action, of a state traditionally backward but slowly realizing the age we live in.

"Ordinarily, Nebraska has been politically disgraceful but today we can see the state's Republican and Democratic parties showing a tendency toward moderation and even a little liberalism.

"It is a with deep regret that I even feel compelled to sit down and express myself to a Democratic governor on an issue as progressively real as the income tax measure. Nebraska was to realize its greatest day on Tuesday, June 22, when a new and progressive economic structure was laid by the 1965 Legislature in the best interests of the whole of Nebraska. But then the 'governor of Omaha' nullified this act or at least threatens to do so despite the fine efforts of the bill's supporters to meet the governor on a gentlemanly basis.

"Never did I think a Democratic governor would rest in the age of 'capitalistic adventurism' and submit himself to the usually corrupt and partial ways of the Omaha press. I had always thought the Legislature was the impediment of progressive and just legislation but now the greatest state bill in post-war Nebraska has been passed by the Legislature and merely awaits your courageous signature.

"Let's see Nebraska's own 'Profile of Courage' and forget about Omaha's ability to ruin your future political whims. Are not our youth and our state's needs tantamount to your personal desires? Let's give Nebraska a chance and assure it of a progressive future.

"This income tax measure —LB797 — deprives nobody, especially Omahans, of their basic needs, which sales and property taxes can easily do. We ought to see through Omaha Senator Klaver's attempt to pass off the Omaha 'fat cats'" ideas as the expression of the whole Nebraska population, as well as Klaver's childish threats to the governor of Nebraska, as compared to Senator Bauer's adult attitude and mature methods in trying to understand what our governor really wants.

"If Senator Stromer wants a better, fairer income tax, at least he ought to see that we have to have an income tax first. Then his liberal views can be debated by future legislatures because this unicameral will have done its share already and can't be expected to find 25 senators willing to support a graduated tax. No tax measure will ever be perfect.

"To our own Senator Hasebroock, I say thanks for taking every side imaginable in order to remain popular at home but in actual voting, supporting only what Main Street West Point demands. His action is typical of our local 'desert' politician."

Lincoln, Neb.

In these trying days of international unrest, the words of Abe Lincoln come to mind: "A nation half-slave and half-free cannot endure," and "This nation is too strong to be taken from without but could be taken from within."

The handwriting is on the wall. The question is, will we heed the warning? Or will we go the way of the Roman Empire? They, too, were living it up while Nero was ruler. They, too, didn't want to be told that they were on the wrong road. They wanted to do as they pleased.

We are being warned by public leaders and religious leaders that our freedom is in peril. But we have become so brain-washed that we call those who are trying to save our country "radicals" or "joy-killers." Our nation grows strong through hard work and sacrifice but we, like the proverbial ostrich, bury our heads in the sand, afraid to face the facts. Communism, like cancer, slowly but surely is taking over the world. The Reds never give up trying to enslave man. But we are doing very little to keep our freedom.

How many of us have read "Masters of Deceit" by J. Edgar Hoover? Or "The Naked Community" by Skarsen? These reveal the tricks that are being used to brainwash us. We are too busy watching ball games and reading comic books.

Let's remember that this war with comunism is going on right here at home where we work. Many a dupe has been brainwashed by those whom he never suspected.

Tax Over Another Hurdle

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The battered income tax for Nebraska has cleared another hurdle with announcement by Gov. Frank Morrison that he would let the measure, approved by the Legislature, become law without his signature. That could be the final hurdle for the bill or it could be only the beginning of a long and bitter struggle. There is strong talk of a referendum action to place the measure on the ballot for the 1966 election.

At this point, however, the petition movement for a vote can be only speculation. The governor said that he would allow the historic broadening of the state's tax base to become law "without my signature and without my endorsement." His action ended a week of high controversy that started when he announced he would veto the income tax bill because of what he said were conflicts in it with the also approved six-year capital expenditures building program. The big weakness in the governor's first position was its excessiveness.

No Official Approval

Not everyone even agrees that a conflict did exist between the two bills. Some believe there was no conflict at all while others believed the conflict existed between the capital spending program and the bill that removes the state from the property tax field. And those who grant the existence of a conflict did not consider it something to make the income tax an impossibility.

What they would grant was that the conflict would have to be resolved and could be resolved in a number of ways. Rather than grounds for a positive veto, they considered it grounds for some further action by the Legislature. It is this course that was taken and to which the governor has now acceded.

Politically, the governor has undoubtedly lost ground in the income tax events of the past week but how much is quite an uncertainty. He promised a veto, goes one argument, and now has backed down. That will just cost him the Omaha vote. He said he wouldn't veto the bill and then he said he would veto it, goes another line. Even though he will now let it become law, he has lost the votes of all income tax backers. That is just playing a little too loosely with thousands of voters. And the governor would probably say that it is playing a little loosely with him, too. The governor was drawing some fine lines in the matter during the week and if his position was not properly represented, a share of the fault lies with his own failure to make himself clear.

His political loss will come more from the ranks of those very close to the situation than from the ranks of the average voter. Certainly, opponents of the income tax saw a real windfall in the governor's announced plans for a veto in view of the conflict he saw. They thought that victory had suddenly been snatched for them from the jaws of defeat and it was a glorious prospect for them to behold. On the other hand, proponents of the measure were dumfounded. They thought the governor would not veto the bill unless he saw some legal impossibility to it and they could see no such impossibility.

For these people, a hard-won victory was suddenly turned into an agonizing defeat. In the end, the losers are still losers, the winners are still winners and the governor is about where everyone thought he was in the first place. The trouble for the governor is that some among the opponents and proponents feel they were mistreated in the process.

The governor undoubtedly believes he was fair and consistent in all that he did but the opinion of others is a matter beyond his control. How much of what went on will be understood and considered by the electorate in general is another question. With the vast majority of people, the governor will be judged on the basis of his opposition to an income tax but his refusal to use the veto on philosophical grounds.

Barring a successful referendum action, the state will now have an income tax for the first time in its nearly 100 years of history. As accurately as can be predicted, this means an income tax rate of 1.6 percent on net taxable income in place of a 9.14 mills property tax at the state level. The tax will become effective Jan. 1, 1967, at which time it will probably be closer to 2 percent to replace a levy that would have climbed by that time to about 15 mills. The tax will be applied against income after the standard federal exemptions have been taken and deductions made.

Effective In 1967

No tax will be levied against Social Security or private pension income or any other income not taxed by the federal government's income tax. The change is historic because it contributes heavily to tax equity in Nebraska as well as providing state government an adequate means of income to meet demands.

No Easy Answer

One would have to grant that eastern Nebraska interests have presented a strong case in support of an Interstate "shortcut" route between Salina, Kan., and Sioux City, Ia. The route, about parallel to existing U.S. Highway 77, would serve a heavy population area and make maximum use of existing Interstate mileage constructed on a north-south pattern.

Actually, the proposal is not in competition to any other suggested route through the state but would conflict in the matter of timing or priority. More in the nature of completely new routes have been proposed through Nebraska along lines parallel to both U.S. Highways 81 and 281.

It is doubtful that both the U.S. 81 and 281 routes would be added to the Interstate system in the near future. When you put all three proposals together, the question of which ones have the most merit and which one should come first is a difficult one to answer.

Part of the answer will be provided by state and federal standards as to established service areas. In other words, how far is the public expected to travel in order to reach an Interstate for long-distance traveling? Is Lincoln now considered to be served on a north-south basis by Interstate 29 that runs from Texas to Canada and skirts the eastern edge of Nebraska?

If the proposed "shortcut" route is constructed, will it be intended to serve the area that would otherwise be served by the proposal for a route along U.S. 81? Geography has not been much if any factor in past Interstate route planning.

If population factors continue as a dominant theme in future Interstate routing, the "shortcut" route will be hard to beat. But while this factor favors the "shortcut" in Nebraska, it is this factor that shortchanged the state with no north-south mileage in competition with the rest of the nation.

Attitude Makes A Difference

United Press International reported an interesting remark made by TV personality Virginia Graham. Celebrating her 30th wedding anniversary, she was asked the secret of a successful marriage. Her reply was precise: "Don't get a divorce."

There may be some oversimplification there but the lady has a mighty good point. Not all marriages can be saved from disaster but the number that are will depend upon the effort made by the parties involved.

If marriage is entered into and family life pursued as something of convenience, custom, etc., then difficulties are likely to develop. If it is a state of life you pursue without any determination, chances are you will make a flop of it. The fact is that no state of life is ever perfect and people should live with the knowledge of that reality.

Then, when a conflict develops, perhaps the first thing they think about will not be the ease of separation but the value in reconciliation. In that thought, perhaps they will find the motivation to look a little harder for a solution to the problem that has developed rather than surrendering in despair.

It takes a little work or effort now and then, a little sacrifice and maybe a little swallowing of pride for any marriage to bring the happiness for which it was intended but there are few things in this world any different from that. At the same time, there are few things in this world that pay any better dividends than a successful marriage. There will be times when such success, for good and valid reasons, just isn't in the cards but this should be the exception, not the rule.

Big Arms Market

One learns from the U.S. Defense Department that its men are over in Saudi Arabia trying to get the lion's share of that country's $100,000,000 arms purchase. If they get most of the order, it will be quite a windfall.

Indeed the U.S.A. is quite pleased with prospects for arms sales, here and there, during the coming two years. Henry J. Kluss, Jr., deputy assistant secretary of defense for the Pentagon's arms sale department, says the U.S. is selling $1.5 billion in arms a year and is looking forward to a $5.4 billion market the coming two years. He sees the market as a good means for getting rid of our weapons surplus and our obsolete weapons. Our competitors are Russia, England and France, and rivalry is keen. There were $135 billion in new weapons manufactured last year worldwide.

We have some moral restraint. We will not sell government weapons to Latin America nor to Africa. We leave the latter field to Russia plus private used weapons agencies and perhaps private manufacturers.

We do not sell nuclear weapons, for obvious reasons.

Well, that is the picture. The major nations talk peace as hard as they can but sell weapons as fast as they can.

One cannot believe the world would buy fewer weapons if the U.S.A. got out of the market. Someone, somewhere will make and sell the weapons. But one thing is certain, one cannot put out a fire by throwing kerosene on it. And as long as there is going to be a machine gun for every man, woman and child and someone to yell, "Go!" our talk of world peace will remain windy.

Senate Considers Coleman Judgeship

WASHINGTON — Today, before the Senate Judiciary Committee, former Gov. James P. Coleman of Mississippi, an old friend of President Johnson, comes up for confirmation to be a judge of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

This is the circuit which has handled about 75 per cent of the important civil rights cases. Its members have the power to influence the progress of Negro voting rights, school integration, and equality of job opportunities in the South for many years to come.

Gov. Coleman, an able lawyer, brilliant political strategist, and a charming likeable gentleman, should make a good impression before the Senate committee. Not only will he be able to handle himself well, but he will testify under the benevolent jurisdiction of Chairman Jim Eastland, also from Mississippi, who rules the Judiciary Committee with a firm hand and jaunty, cocksure manner.

On the committee, however, are some important new senators who have tipped the balance away from the old Dixiecrat-Republican coalition which once dominated the confirmation of judges. They are Teddy Kennedy, brother of the late President; Birch Bayh of Indiana; Quentin Burdick of North Dakota; and Joe Tydings of Maryland, all fairly new, all with vigorous ideas of their own.

In addition there are Phil Hart of Michigan, Tom Dodd of Connecticut, and Ed Long of Missouri, all for civil rights, though easily swayed by the White House when the President wants an old friend confirmed.

But three other Republicans, Jacob Javits, N.Y., Hiram Fong, Hawaii, and Hugh Scott, Pa., are likely to vote no. And if the four young Democrats—Kennedy, Bayh, Burdick and Tydings—team up with them, the confirmation of Coleman will depend on how smoothly the White House massages the ego of Ed Long, Tom Dodd and Phil Hart.

Ego-massaging and whip-cracking probably will decide Coleman's confirmatiion in the end. But, with some senators, testimony will count, too. And Senate testimony is almost certain to show that Jim Coleman was one of the shrewdest opponents of the Supreme Court ever to be nominated to a judicial post to carry out decrees of the Supreme Court.

As governor of Mississippi in 1956, he helped pass the "interposition law" which directed the governor and every executive branch of Mississippi government "to prohibit any lawful, peaceful and constitutioinal means the implementation of or the compliance with the integration decisions of the United States Supreme Court."

MARQUIS CHILDS

An Assessment Of Ben Bella's Failure

WASHINGTON — The rush of world events threatens to obscure the bitter lesson of Algeria.

The score as it is being added up here in the aftermath of Ben Bella's overthrow is a massive defeat for Red China. For two years or more, Chou has personally directed an effort to rally all African and Asian states behind the Peking line. The conference was to be a sounding board for intensive denunciation of the United States.

It is the lesson of decline and decay that is significant. Algeria while it was a French colony exported large amounts of grain and wines. Large farms cultivated under the colonial system were highly successful procedures.

In recent years food supplied for the most part by the United States has fed up to one-third of the Algerian population. Without it there would have been mass hunger and perhaps even famine. This help through PL 480, the law covering the disposal of American surplus farm products for local currencies, went on while Ben Bella was trying to establish his leadership in Africa by delivering arms to the Congolese rebels.

France through these same years has been providing aid at a rate of about $100,000,000 annually. Of that amount roughly half has been provided without strings so that it could go to make up budgetary deficits or for any purpose.

In assessing the failure of Ben Bella, the background of independence achieved in 1962 must be taken into account. Independence came after a seven-year Moslem revolt against French rule with fierce fighting against French forces at one time numbering more than a half-million. The horrors of what was, in effect, a civil war—torture, violence, widespread sabotage — were perpetrated by both sides.

Once a truce had been signed and the Algerians voted for independence, Ben Bella as head of the new government moved rapidly to replace French managers and technicians. This was understandable in light of intense nationalistic feeling and the hatreds growing out of the war. But, unfortunately, Algerians lacked the skills and the discipline to take over. That was true on the farms as well as in industry.

The number of French in Algeria has dropped from about 1,000,000 to less than 100,000. With this more or less forced migration — the French were made to understand they had no place in the new Algeria — went virtually all the trained personnel that had kept the country running.

Granted this great handicap, the fact remains that Ben Bella never faced up to the reality of beginning again with training programs as part of a determined effort to build the country on a new basis.

The estimate of the specialists here is that Ben Bella's overthrow by Col. Houari Boumedienne had little to do with the crisis of food and employment. It was a power struggle with Boumedienne moving before he was himself removed.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

By ROBERT PETERSON

Taking a cue from Confucius, I've come up with a maxim of my own that goes, "It is better to take friends out to dinner than to attend their funerals."

My thinking on the subject developed years ago when I was teaching at the University of Illinois. A familiar figure on campus was an elderly, retired professor — a widower with no family. He was a quiet type who had few friends left. Despite a good sense of humor he wasn't invited out much.

He suffered assorted ailments, including heart disease and arthritis, and must have sensed that the end was near for one day he asked with wry humor if I was coming to his funeral.

Without thinking, I heard myself say I'd rather take him out to dinner. Quick as a flash he extended his hand and smiled, "It's a deal."

When I asked him to set the day he said, "Let's make it Sunday—that's always the dreariest day of my week."

The following Sunday I picked him up at his apartment and took him to the best restaurant in town. We had a leisurely dinner, and afterwards sat talking for two hours as he reminisced on colorful incidents in his life. It was a rewarding evening for both of us.

When he passed on several weeks later I felt no regrets about missing the services—confident his spirit excused me.

In ensuing years I've stopped going to funerals, and spend a lot more time dining and visiting with others. I don't know how my friends feel, but I know I'd rather see more of them while I'm alive than have them show up for the rituals when I'm gone

The essential goodness of man is seen in the charities sponsored by various industries. A fine example is the entertainment industry which raises $9 million a year for children's charities through their Variety Clubs found in most cities.

Those clubs came into existence some 40 years ago, after a theater owner in Pittsburgh, Pa., found an abandoned baby. Local theater owners got together and formed what they called a Variety Club to finance the rearing and education of this baby — a little girl who grew into a fine young lady and who ultimately married and raised a family of her own

Word of this project got around and soon entertainment leaders in other cities formed Variety Clubs to raise money for children's charities

Dean of U.S. movie exhibitors and one of the clubs' eldest members is 81-year-old Sam Rinzler. Sam is a rag-to-riches lad from Austria who arrived in the U.S. at 17 with $3 in his pocket. Instead of complaining about his lack of education and opportunities he tackled a variety of different jobs, from newsboy to salesclerk. He saved his pennies and a dozen years later started one of the first movie theaters. Today he operates 20 theaters in Brooklyn, N.Y.

June 29 Sam and others in the entertainment industry will celebrate "Old Newsboy Day" in New York, selling special newspaper editions with proceeds going toward construction of new heart treatment facilities for children in local hospitals

Council Passes Tougher Anti-Noise Ordinance

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City Council, in line with a Police Department crack-down and after fielding a variety of complaints from many Lincoln residents, Monday approved an "unnecessary noise" ordinance relating to the operation of motor vehicles.

The amendment to the motor vehicle code goes beyond the existing muffler ordinance in prohibiting a person from making "any loud and unusual noise unnecessary in the normal and lawful operation of a motor vehicle."

The ordinance will cover tire noise, or "peeling," and the operation of motor bikes.

Complaints resulting from the increased use of motorbikes this spring and summer have caused Police Chief Joe Carroll to order his officers to crack down on cyclists making deliberate loud noises while operating their bikes.

Carroll said that young violators may be brought to police headquarters, booked and released to their parents. A municipal Court appearance will be scheduled the following day, he said.

Councilman Lloyd Hinkley, who introduced the ordinance, said that he has received "the most irate calls" since becoming a councilman in connection with the noisy operation of both bikes and automobiles.

'Extreme Proportions'

Appearing before the council, Elmer Yates of 1240 No 66th said the situation has reached "extreme proportions," and presented a petition with 117 names approving the passage of the ordinance.

Councilman John Mason and others agreed that the biggest problem will be enforcement.

Mayor Dean Petersen said he will meet with law enforcement officials and ask that citations be issued when officers find vehicles with no mufflers or with parts of mufflers removed, resulting in unnecessary noise.

Mason also asked that the muffler ordinance be amended to apply to the owner of the vehicle in addition to the driver.

To Study Omaha Plan

The council also indicated that it would study a proposed ordinance before the Omaha City Council which would regulate the rental of motorbikes.

In other action, the council passed the amended airport zoning ordinance and appointed the Board of Zoning Appeals to act as a board of adjustment to handle appeals resulting from enforcement of the ordinance.

A resolution was approved appointing Edwin C Perry as the City-County Planning Commission representative on the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Perry replaces Stanley Sands, who resigned from the commission, for the term expiring Aug. 24, 1969.

The council also approved an ordinance annexing 80 acres of land located northeast of 70th and Fletcher.

Before public hearings, Mason called for council members to take the initiative in assembling a formal annexation policy "to use as a guide" in annexing newly developing areas adjacent to the city.

Petersen appointed Mason, John Comstock and D. L. Tyrrell as a committee to work on an annexation formula.

As a result of another annexation ordinance, tabled by the council last week until the capital improvements budget for fiscal 1965-66 can be reviewed, the city clerk's office has received a petition signed by 34 residents protesting the possible annexation of 140 acres near 70th and Normal Blvd.

The petition echoed verbal testimony at the ordinance's public hearing, where area residents argued that extending city utilities into the area would be a duplication and that annexation of the 140 acres would "result in irreversible economic damage to the petitioners."

In recommending approval of the bid, City Purchasing Agent Wayne Harvey said the Goodrich bid was the next low satisfactory bid.

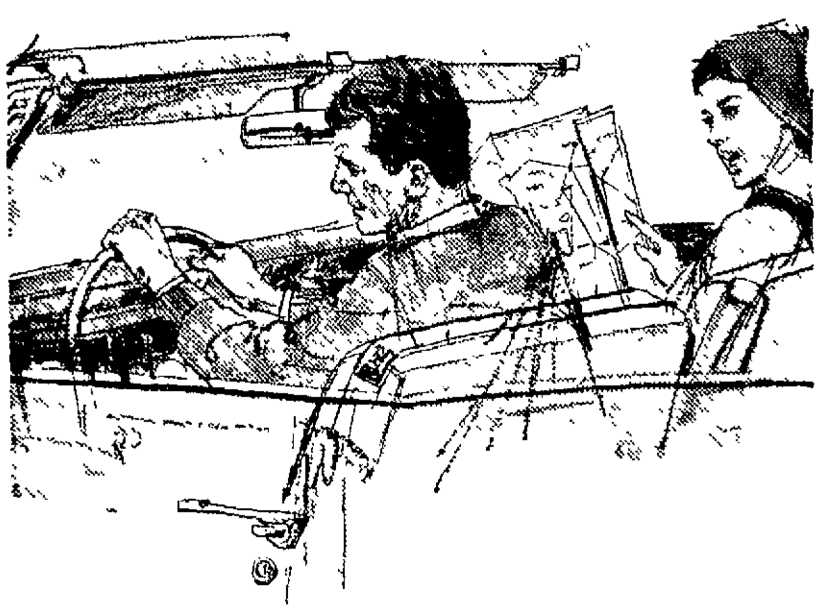
JOURNAL-STAR WANT ADS BRING RESULTS—477-8902

"You're going to be on the road over the 4th? Decide beforehand who's going to drive and who's going to navigate."

From the men at the GM Proving Grounds in Michigan and Arizona come this and other suggestions—not a complete course in safe driving, but some extra guidelines based on over 300 million miles of experience on all kinds of roads:

For example, from driving with our own families and from driving with complicated equipment in our test cars, we know the value of keeping the driver as free from distractions as possible. So before you start, you and your wife should decide which of you is going to drive and which is going to handle such chores as reading maps, retrieving articles that fall on the floor and disciplining the little passengers in the back seat, if you have them.



Three things to plan for

But, if there is any single overall suggestion that the drivers at our proving grounds can offer from their own experience, it's this: plan your trip. That is, anticipate what can happen by taking into account all three factors of driving safety: the road, the car and the driver.

First, try to plan your trip over freeways. We prove our cars on everything from raw dirt trails to busy streets, but our own experience and statistical surveys show that the freeways have far better safety records. In other words, roads that are engineered to be safer really are. And they're more convenient, too.

Watch those rush hours

Another tip in planning your route is to try to avoid arriving in metropolitan areas when commuter traffic is heavy. The test drivers who make our cross-country runs also suggest getting acquainted with the speed limits and signs as soon as you can when traveling into another state.

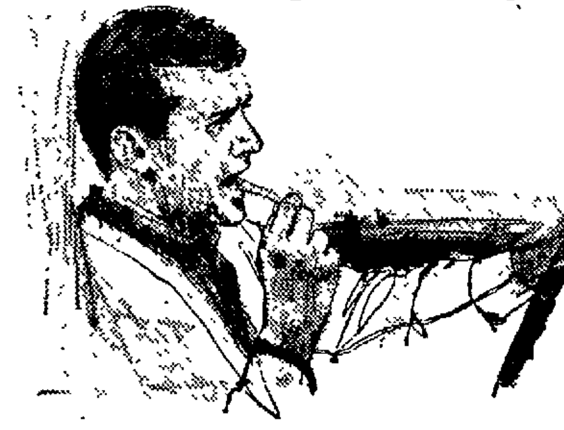
Next, it's wise to have your car checked by a professional before you set out. At the proving grounds, we make routine inspections of tires, steering, brakes, exhaust system, lights, wipers and so forth every day. (The people who regularly service your car may offer a special pre-vacation checkup. It's generally worth many times the small cost.)

Now, most important, the driver. We not only make sure our test drivers are in good physical shape, we also advise them to get plenty of rest. If you're leaving early, get to bed early. And it's a good idea to eat sparingly before taking the wheel . . . it's no place to be drowsy.

Stay alert

To stay alert, you can apply a number of suggestions that our drivers have found useful. Stop at least once every two hours—preferably more often—and take a brief walk to loosen tense muscles. Coffee, fruit juice or pop will refresh you, too. And while you drive, keep a continuous supply of fresh air going through the car.

Another good way to stay alert is by keeping the radio on and switching stations frequently. Changing seat positions can keep you feeling fresh, too. And many of our drivers find that chewing gum or candy also helps.



Use those seat belts

Next, adjust your mirrors. And, as you drive, include them in the regular sweep of your eyes. If you decide to drive after dark, switch drivers, if you can—or, at the very least, take a "breather" before going on. And do what our drivers do: keep your guard up and your speed down.

A word about speed

Whatever the posted limit, underlying it is the basic rule that speed should never be greater than what is "reasonable and prudent."

You see, when all is said and done, the most important factor in driving safely is you—the driver.

We know 500 drivers and special testers at the proving grounds who will back us up on that.

So give these suggestions a try. We think they'll help you to have a more pleasant trip. And a happy 4th!

A resolution was approved appointing Edwin C. Perry as the City-County Planning Commission representative on the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Perry replaces Stanley Sands, who resigned from the commission, for the term expiring Aug. 24, 1969.

The council also approved an ordinance annexing 80 acres of land located northeast of 70th and Fletcher.

Before public hearings, Mason called for council members to take the initiative in assembling a formal annexation policy 'to use as a guide" in annexing newly developing areas adjacent to the city.

Petersen appointed Mason, John Comstock and D. L. Tyrrell as a committee to work on an annexation formula.

As a result of another annexation ordinance, tabled by the council last week until the capital improvements budget for fiscal 1965-66 can be reviewed, the city clerk's office has received a petition signed by 34 residents protesting the possible annexation of 140 acres near 70th and Normal Blvd.

The petition echoed verbal testimony at the ordinance's public hearing, where area residents argued that extending city utilities into the area would be a duplication and that annexation of the 140 acres would "result in irreversible economic damage to the petitioners."

Council Slates 'Recreation In Action' Tour

At the invitation of Supt. of Recreation Bob Dula, City Council members will take a "recreation in action" tour of Lincoln facilities Thursday.

Dula said the tour is designed to let the council know what the city has to offer Lincolnites of all ages in the way of summertime recreation.

Touring with the council will be Dula, Mayor Dean Petersen, Walter Mitchell, city personnel director and James Ager, director of parks and recreation.

The city officials will meet with recreation department staff members and visit supervisors of playground, tennis, swimming and baseball activities at different locations throughout the city.

Also included in the tour will be a stop at St. Paul's Methodist Church for a look at the recreation advantages offered to senior citizen clubs.

Goodrich's Bid On Tires, Tubes OKd By Mayor

Mayor Dean Petersen Monday approved the bid of B. F. Goodrich Co. for furnishing vehicle tires and tubes for all city departments.

The bid covers a one year requirement contract beginning July 1 and allows the city a 13% discount from the net state price.

In recommending approval of the bid, City Purchasing Agent Wayne Harvey said the Goodrich bid was the next low satisfactory bid.

City Traffic Aide To Present Paper At Academy Meet

Assistant City Traffic Engineer Georgy Bezkorovainy has been asked to present a research paper to the highway research board of the National Academy of Sciences.

He has been employed by the city since last September and does research work for the traffic engineering department, headed by Robert Holsinger.

Holsinger said the invitation is "an honor for both Georgy and the city. We are fortunate to have people of this high caliber working in city departments."

"You're going to be on the road over the 4th? Decide beforehand who's going to drive and who's going to navigate."

From the men at the GM Proving Grounds in Michigan and Arizona come this and other suggestions—not a complete course in safe driving, but some extra guidelines based on over 300 million miles of experience on all kinds of roads:

For example, from driving with our own families and from driving with complicated equipment in our test cars, we know the value of keeping the driver as free from distractions as possible. So before you start, you and your wife should decide which of you is going to drive and which is going to handle such chores as reading maps, retrieving articles that fall on the floor and disciplining the little passengers in the back seat, if you have them.

Three things to plan for

But, if there is any single overall suggestion that the drivers at our proving grounds can offer from their own experience, it's this: plan your trip. That is, anticipate what can happen by taking into account all three factors of driving safety: the road, the car and the driver.

First, try to plan your trip over freeways. We prove our cars on everything from raw dirt trails to busy streets, but our own experience and statistical surveys show that the freeways have far better safety records. In other words, roads that are engineered to be safer really are. And they're more convenient, too.

Watch those rush hours

Another tip in planning your route is to try to avoid arriving in metropolitan areas when commuter traffic is heavy. The test drivers who make our cross-country runs also suggest getting acquainted with the speed limits and signs as soon as you can when traveling into another state.

Next, it's wise to have your car checked by a professional before you set out. At the proving grounds, we make routine inspections of tires, steering, brakes, exhaust system, lights, wipers and so forth every day. (The people who regularly service your car may offer a special pre-vacation checkup. It's generally worth many times the small cost.)

Now, most important, the driver. We not only make sure our test drivers are in good physical shape, we also advise them to get plenty of rest. If you're leaving early, get to bed early. And it's a good idea to eat sparingly before taking the wheel . . . it's no place to be drowsy.

Stay alert

To stay alert, you can apply a number of suggestions that our drivers have found useful. Stop at least once every two hours—preferably more often—and take a brief walk to loosen tense muscles. Coffee, fruit juice or pop will refresh you, too. And while you drive, keep a continuous supply of fresh air going through the car.

Another good way to stay alert is by keeping the radio on and switching stations frequently. Changing seat positions can keep you feeling fresh, too. And many of our drivers find that chewing gum or candy also helps.

Use those seat belts

Next, adjust your mirrors. And, as you drive, include them in the regular sweep of your eyes. If you decide to drive after dark, switch drivers, if you can—or, at the very least, take a "breather" before going on. And do what our drivers do: keep your guard up and your speed down.

A word about speed

Whatever the posted limit, underlying it is the basic rule that speed should never be greater than what is "reasonable and prudent."

You see, when all is said and done, the most important factor in driving safely is you—the driver.

We know 500 drivers and special testers at the proving grounds who will back us up on that.

So give these suggestions a try. We think they'll help you to have a more pleasant trip. And a happy 4th!

Highway 'Loop' For City Urged

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A major plan for development of an Interstate Highway "perimeter loop" encircling the Lincoln metropolitan area was laid before the Nebraska Highway Advisory Commission Monday.

The plan, formulated by the City Council, Lancaster County Board, and the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, also calls for development of large radial arterial streets connecting the city with the proposed loop.

The brochure, outlining the plan, said, "Metropolitan Lincoln's most serious traffic problem is getting around and through the city."

The plan estimates a 10-year, $47 million arterial street and highway program to meet Lincoln's metropolitan traffic needs will have a $27 million "deficit" which cannot be solely met by local taxes and will require increased state and federal aid.

50% Increase

If the "deficit" were to be financed by the city and county, the plan estimates their respective mill levies would be increased 50%.

Lincoln gets hardly any "indirect" state aid in the form of streets and highways within the city as compared with Omaha where "approximately $75 million or 25% of the cost of Nebraska's Interstate 80 is being built into Omaha and Douglas County."

Noting that 60% of future travel will be urban, the brochure says that Lincoln's Southeast Diagonal and East O are already over-capacity at peak periods and the proposed Northeast Diagonal is stalled for lack of financing.

The proposed Interstate loop with connecting radials attacks the traffic problem "simultaneously" by diverting through traffic around the city and by distributing traffic destined for parts of the city via internal distributor arterials

The plan urges construction of the Northeast Radial with grade-separation structures, a north radial extending North 27th to Interstate 80 with an interchange, and a West radial generally utilizing the proposed K-L viaduct.

One Major Interchange

Noting that Lincoln has only one major interchange, North 10, though other city arterials could readily be extended to the Interstate, the plan proposes additional four-way interchanges.

Recommended is the completion of the West O interchange to serve all four directions, construction of a North 27th "cloverleaf" to serve both 27th and the proposed Northeast Radial, and acquisition of sites for future-proposed interchanges at 70th and 84th and between the Lincoln Air Force Base interchange and Pleasant Dale.

The plan conforms with Nationally recognized tools of "loop and radial" distributor highways being used to solve urban traffic problem, according to its backers.

It notes that 20 large urban areas have 45% of their freeway mileage provided by Interstates" and other metropolitan areas have been aided by state financing.

Data supporting the plan, according to its backers, are contained in the Lincoln metropolitan area traffic study to be completed by consulting engineers in August for the State Highway Department, in the City-County Comprehensive Plan and in the Lincoln street improvement program.

Third City Renews Bid For Interchange South Of Town

The City of Grand Island Monday renewed its request that the state construct a major interchange on the Interstate highway south of the city.

A delegation representing the Grand Island City Council and Chamber of Commerce appeared before the State Highway Advisory Commission to urge support for the proposal.

Grand Island wants the interchange constructed where Highway 281 meets the super highwway, and Monday's appearance marked the third time in a 10-month period the commission has been asked to support the proposal.

Paul Houston, head of the transportation division of the Chamber of Commerce, said the Hall County Board has agreed to construct three bridges across the Platte River and the Grand Island City Council has agreed to widen South Locust St. if the state would build the interchange.

"I think the willingness of the people to do their share certainly makes consideration of the interchange proposal more favorable," said State Commission Chairman J. R. McBride of Minden.

McBride said the commission probably will make a recommendation within two months, but he noted the United States Bureau of Roads would also have to give its approval.

A number of other groups also appeared before the commission seeking various road improvements.

A Columbus delegation asked that the state widen Highway 30 which runs through Columbus.

The Highway 22 Association asked that Highway 22 be paved from North Loup to Highway 70 in Valley County.

A delegation representing the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce requested a number of improvements and revisions in the road program in and around the Capital City.

In other action, the commission approved the controversial relocation of Highway 15 between Milligan and Dorchester. A number of residents in the area had strongly protested the relocation proposal.

Two Interstate 'Short Cuts' Outlined To Highway Group

Two Interstate "short cut" extensions in eastern and western Nebraska were outlined Monday in a 62-page analysis of the state's Interstate Highway needs after 1972.

Representatives of 22 Nebraska towns met with the Nebraska Highway Advisory Commission in its presentation.

The "short cuts" recommended would be in addition to the earlier proposed north-south Interstate corridor "filling in" the present 455-mile-wide Great Plains gap in north-south Interstate routes.

Cuts 70 Miles

The eastern short cut would lop off 70 miles between Salina, Kan., Lincoln, and Elk Point, S.D., by connecting with Interstates 29 at Elk Point and 35 and 70 at Salina.

This route would serve Fairbury, Beatrice, Wilber, Crete, Hallam, Seward, Lincoln, Agnew, Wahoo, Fremont, West Point, Wayne, Wakefield Ponca, Dakota, South Sioux City and Omaha.

The western short cut is proposed by the analysis as connecting Interstates 80 and 25 via North Platte, Ogallala, Scottsbluff and Torrington and Wheatland, Wyo., lopping 160 miles off the route to Yellowstone Park and the Pacific Northwest.

The analysis, prepared by the North-South Interstate Association, was made in response to the U.S. Bureu of Road's invitation to the states to indicate their Interstate needs after 1972 when Congress may extend the 41,000 mile system

'Fared Poorer'

The report notes Nebraska "fared poorer than many states on interstate mileage" and is the "only state except Delaware without Interstates in two directions."

It proposes the "eastern short cut corridor" should receive the first priority recommendations of all of Nebraska's several interstate recommendations.

Truck With Camper Not Mobile Home

The State Justice Department held Monday that state law does not require a pickup truck with a "camper" unit to carry mobile home registration.

The department said the "camper" unit is classified as cargo for the truck, and therefore only commercial registration for the truck is required.

The department also said that a pickup truck licensed only as a farm vehicle may not carry a "camper" unit and be used for purposes unrelated to farming or ranching. If such a truck is used for personal pleasure like vacationing, the owner must obtain commercial registration for the truck.

The opinion, written by Assistant Atty. Gen. C. C. Sheldon and approved by Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer, was in response to questions from Phelps County Atty. John H Dier of Holdrege.

Eye Broader Powers For Speaker

The Rules Committee proposed Monday that the speaker of the Legislature be given broader authority.

The recommendation will be sent to the full Legislature for consideration.

Under the plan, the speaker would be responsible for coordinating the activities of standing committees, for expediting legislation and for general floor leadership. He would not serve on any standing committee.

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, committee chairman, said the purpose is to speed the legislative process as much as possible. He said the speaker would act as a floor general in much the same way as a majority leader does in a partisan body.

Now, the post of speaker is generally regarded as the highest honor conferred by the senators on a colleague, but it carries little real power. When the lieutenant governor is absent, the speaker takes over. He is next in line as state chief executive in case the governor or lieutenant governor cannot serve.

Ruhnke said the recommendation could "go a long ways toward" streamlining the legislative process. He described it as a "major proposal" and was hopeful the lawmakers would endorse it.

The committee also agreed that a senator may try to pry a bill loose from committee five days after it has received a public hearing.

The department said the "camper" unit is classified as cargo for the truck, and therefore only commercial registration for the truck is required.

The department also said that a pickup truck licensed only as a farm vehicle may not carry a "camper" unit and be used for purposes unrelated to farming or ranching. If such a truck is used for personal pleasure like vacationing, the owner must obtain commercial registration for the truck.

The opinion, written by Assistant Atty. Gen. C. C. Sheldon and approved by Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer, was in response to questions from Phelps County Atty. John H. Dier of Holdrege.

Eye Broader Powers For Speaker

The Rules Committee proposed Monday that the speaker of the Legislature be given broader authority.

The recommendation will be sent to the full Legislature for consideration.

Under the plan, the speaker would be responsible for coordinating the activities of standing committees, for expediting legislation and for general floor leadership. He would not serve on any standing committee.

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, committee chairman, said the purpose is to speed the legislative process as much as possible. He said the speaker would act as a floor general in much the same way as a majority leader does in a partisan body.

Now, the post of speaker is generally regarded as the highest honor conferred by the senators on a colleague, but it carries little real power. When the lieutenant governor is absent, the speaker takes over. He is next in line as state chief executive in case the governor or lieutenant governor cannot serve.

Ruhnke said the recommendation could "go a long ways toward" streamlining the legislative process. He described it as a "major proposal" and was hopeful the lawmakers would endorse it.

The committee also agreed that a senator may try to pry a bill loose from committee five days after it has received a public hearing.

NEWS

There are so many social adventures to mention this morning, as suburbanites tell of their recent activities.

Families kept the wheels spinning last week as we discover that travel is the predominant reason for the quantity of news.

But, not everyone is observing vacation time right now, and some of these exceptions are busy hostessing and attending neighborhood get-togethers. One such gathering took place in the Park Manor area last week.

PARK MANOR

It all began 10 years ago when Mrs. Jay Cees formed a bridge Club. This club faithfully met throughout this decade, but recent news of a departing member ended the club's life—for awhile anyway. When the bridge players met last Wednesday a dessert luncheon honored Mrs. Richard Ebeling who will move to Colorado in the near fcture. The no-hostess affair took place at the home of Mrs. F. E. Rheinschild with all members present, and they are pictured above with the honoree.

But fortunately not everyone is leaving Park Manor. There are those who are moving into the area—the new residents on Skyline Drive, for instance. The newcomers are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Nungesser who recently moved to Lincoln from Norfolk.

FIENE HEIGHTS

Heading eastward last week were Norman Krivosha and his daughtetr Terri. The two spent four days in Washington, D.C. but for two different reasons. Terri spent her time touring the historic city while her father was attending to business. While in Washington, Mr. Krivosha and Terri were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ebert. By the way, if you are interested in the interior features of the White House, you might contact Terri. We hear she took part in one of the scheduled tours through the mansion's first floor.

Another east-bound traveling pair of the past week were Mr. and Mrs. John F. Zimmer, III. The twosome were accompanied to Buffalo, N.Y. and to the Jay Cee convention by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Geistlinger. The Sunday to Sunday stay included business and sight seeing.

The birthday celebrating activity that occurred last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ganshorn in Beaver Crossing had a three-fold purpose. It seems that a Fiene Heights resident was joined by a sister and sister-in-law in sharing birthday honors, Mrs. Don Kntuzen, her sister, Mrs. Ron Scott, and her sistetr-in-law, Mrs. Harry Ganshorn — all of Lincoln—were relieved of their kitchen duties on Sunday as grandma took over the cooking honors for the three honorees and their families.

Today ends Mrs. Ed Shuriger's nine-day visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hewitt. Mrs. Shuriger will return to her home in Kenesaw sometime today and will be accompanied by several members of the Hewitt family.

June Ceremony

For the marriage of Miss Janet Hayward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Hayward of Kearney, to Gary L. Winkelbauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Rischling of Milligan, which was solemnized Sunday afternoon, June 27, bouquets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli decorated the altar of the First Methodist Church at Kearney. The lines of the service were read by the Rev. William Doran.

Wearing long-skirted frocks of petal pink sheer over taffeta and carrying nosegays of white gladioli florets and pink sweetheart roses were Miss Karen Boesiger of Denver, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Gail Oliver, Boulder, Colo., and Miss Karen Yager, Ralston.

Robert Haws of Hebron, served as best man, and seating the guests were Bruce Hayward, Springfield, Ill., brother of the bride; Ray Rischling, Milligan, the bridegroom's brother; Jim Wickless and Don Thompson, Lincoln.

The bride selected white silk organza for her Empire gown. The bodice, which was fashioned with brief sleeves and a rounding neckline, was cuffed with organza at the high waistline, and appliques of Alencon lace trimmed the skirt which was completed by a chapel train. A pillbox cap of the lace and organza held her illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of white orchids and roses.

The couple will live in Denver. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Alpha Xi Delta and Mu Phi Epsilon professional music sorority. A member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and Gamma Lambda honoraries, Mr. Winkelbauer received his Masters degree in June from the University of Nebraska.

Opening lead — five of diamonds.

A fine declarer takes every precaution he possibly can to guard against any unfavorable distribution that may exist in the deal.

This penchant for anticipating trouble and preparing for it is the trademark of an expert, and while these efforts to forestall danger turn out to be a waste of time and energy more often than not, still the effort does pay off handsomely from time to time.

Examine this case where South must be on his toes to make four spades. West leads a diamond and East cashes the A-K and returns a diamond, which declarer wins with the queen.

If South now gets careless and plays a low spade to the king, East takes the ace and returns a diamond to defeat the contract one trick.

Similarly, if South plays the queen of spades at trick four, instead of a low one to the king, he is also defeated when East takes the queen with the ace and returns a diamond. In that case, West ruffs the diamond with the eight, thus establishing an extra trump trick for East.

The best line of play is to lead a heart to the king at trick four, cash the A-K of clubs, discarding two hearts, and then return a low spade from dummy.

When East follows low and the queen wins, the proper continuation is the jack of spades (because this guards against a holding of three spades in either the East or West hand).

In the actual case, East takes the jack with the ace and the defense is now all washed up. East can do no better than return a diamond at this point, which South ruffs in his hand.

A spade to the king then picks up East's last trump and brings South's carefully conducted campaign to a conclusion.

Candlelight Service

At a candlelight wedding Sunday evening, June 27, Miss Charlotte Ann Corey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Corey, became the bride of John G. Huck, son of Mrs. John Huck and the late Mr. Huck. The ceremony was solemnized at 7 o'clock, at the Havelock Methodist Church by the Rev. Albert Gray, and Mrs. Chester Slaughter, organist, played the wedding music. Mrs. Slaughter also accompanied Miss Mary Gray, who was the vocal soloist.

Frocked in emerald green brocade in daytime mode were Mrs. Donald Mulder, the matron of honor, and the bridesmatrons Mrs. Donald Safler, Mrs. Earl Innes, Mrs. Darryl Rivers and Mrs. Richard Westfall.

Donald Mulder served as best man, and seating the guests were Leroy Rosenthal, Earl Innes, Keith Pester and Robert Grant.

For her wedding gown, the bride selected white silk brocade patterned in a rose motif. Designed on sheath lines, the long-sleeved bodice and slim skirt were complemented by an aisle-wide, detachable train of the silk, and her bouffant veil of illusion was held to the head by a large rose fashioned of the brocaded silk. She carried a white Bible arranged with three white roses and showered with valley-lilies.

Upon their return from a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Huck will make their home in Lincoln.

THE TALK

around the town

There are some new names on Lincoln's guest list this morning, and they belong to Kim and Debbie Boman, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Boman of Indianapolis, Ind., formerly of Lincoln.

The young visitors are the house guests of their paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Boman of Denton, but they also are devoting considerable time to their great-grandmother, Mrs. M. Olive Watson, and certainly they are enjoying the swimming pool at the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Watson.

And maybe we should tell you that Mrs. John Boman is the former Jeanne Branch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Branch.

Then we learned that Tom Sloan was in town just about long enough to say 'hello' to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Sloan, before taking off again. Mr. Sloan has just returned from a year spent abroad. The summer of 1964 he was in Winchester, England, where he was associated with an archeological group. Following the summer in Winchester Mr. Sloan went to Copenhagen, Denmark to work on his doctorate in Art History, but we hear that there also was considerable travel throughout Europe with emphasis on art museums and galleries

Mr Sloan is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, where he is a member of Sigma Chi, and received his Master's degree from Northwestern University. He now is in Princeton, N.J., where he will teach Art History at Princeton University next year. We hear that after he finds an apartment, and does some browsing around, he will return to Lincoln for another brief visit.

PLANS

early fall wedding

Announcement is being made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Hester of the betrothal of their daughter, Judy, to Dennis Wayne Capps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale W. Capps.

Plans are being made for a Sept 4, wedding.

Courtesy

In courtesy to her house-guest, Mrs. Lexy Canedy of Freeport, Grand Bahamas, formerly of Lincoln, Mrs. Dorothy Hobbs entertained at dinner Thursday evening at her home.

Mrs. Canedy left Friday to visit friends in Omaha and Topeka, Kan., before returning home.

ABBY

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our 18-year-old daughter, a straight "A" student and faithful church member, has gone with a boy (her age) for over a year. He moved here from another State. The other evening he told our daughter that he wanted to tell her something before somebody else did. His parents own and operate a nudist camp! He told her his mother never did approve of it, but his father is the boss and they make a very good living from it. He said when he was eleven his father took a belt to him and put him in the car and made him go up to this camp. He hated it and hitchhiked back home. I think no less of this boy, but I'm afraid if this gets out our daughter's reputation will be ruined. He says he sometimes goes up there to see his mother, but he always wears shorts. Please advise us.

STRICKTLY ANONYMOUS

DEAR STRICTLY: Children are not responsible for their parents' behavior. You are right to judge the lad on his own merits. You can't still wagging tongues, so ignore any talk that occurs, and don't waste your energy worrying about it.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letter on how to propose marriage. May I tell you how I did it?

First I bought a diamond ring. Then I invited the young lady to my apartment, and proceeded to serve her an old-fashioned. I had the diamond ring frozen in an ice cube. The girl almost swallowed the ring before she discovered it. But she put it on her finger and it's been there ever since.

GEORGE

DEAR GEORGE: I would call that a real cool proposal.

DEAR ABBY: I have a small problem but it seems to bother me more every night. My husband is a wonderful father in all ways but one. When our little ones go to kiss him goodnight, he turns his cheek for them to kiss, but he never kisses them in return. I have told him many times that a kiss should be mutual—and that he should kiss them in return—but he says he can't see where it matters, and as long as the children are satisfied I shouldn't criticize him. I would like your opinion and am willing to go along with your answer. Thank you.

N.J.

DEAR N.J.: If you husband smokes heavily, chews tobacco' or has beer breath, he's doing the kids a favor. But if he's a "wonderful father" in all other ways, I say leave him alone.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the husband who reported that his wife "sweet-talked" her plants and flowers and it made them grow: I understand how it works and think it is all well and good. So now I am wondering if the opposite treatment would work on unwanted weeds. Let's all go out in the back yard and cuss out the weeds and see what happens!

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. SHAKY RALSTON ADVANCES

Riessen Succumbs To Davis Cup Teammate

. . . IN WIMBLEDON TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

Wimbledon, England (AP) — Shaky Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., climbed over the back of a Davis Cup teammate and moved into the semifinals of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships Monday with two top-ranked Australians and a dark horse from South Africa.

Erratic at first and serving 13 double faults in the first two sets, Ralston, top-ranked American, fought from two sets down for a 3-6, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2 victory over Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill.

He was joined in the semifinals by top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia, his next opponent Wednesday; Fred Stolle, Emerson's Davis Cup teammate, seeded No. 2, and unranked Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, who eliminated the only other remaining American, Allen Fox of Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5, 7-5.

Emerson, playing like a machine, overpowered Keith Diepraam of South Africa 4-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1 and Stolle, Wimbledon runner-up the last two years, outlasted the foxy Rafael Osuna of Mexico, 11-13, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2. Stolle plays Drysdale.

Americans had their finest day in the women's division in a decade, sending four players into the quarter-finals.

They included Nancy Richey of Dallas, seeded fourth; Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., No. 5; Justina Bricka of St. Louis and little Jane Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif.

A fifth American representative, Julie Heldman of New York, was ousted by the six-foot Christine Truman of Britain after a tough struggle 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Misses Richey and Moffitt brushed off their opponents in little more than half an hour. The aggressive, hard-hitting Miss Richey crushed Joyce Williams of England 6-0, 6-3. The bespectacled Miss Moffitt trounced Robin Lesh of Australia 6-2, 6-0.

Miss Bricka, eighth in U.S. women's rankings, displayed a lot of fight in outlasting Virginia Wade of England 5-7, 6-4, 8-6. Miss Albert, daughter of former football star Frankie Albert, upset the eighth seeded Francoise Durr of France 6-4, 7-5.

Miss Albert's quarter-final opponent Tuesday will be the defending champion, Maria Bueno of Brazil, who advanced earlier. Miss Richey plays the towering Miss Truman; Miss Bricka faces Margaret Smith, Australia's second-seeded favorite, who won over Frances McClellan of Britain 6-2, 6-1, and Miss Moffitt goes against Lesley Turner of Australia, winner over Lea Pericoli of Italy 6-0, 6-4.

Ralston was slow getting off the ground against Riessen, who has never beaten him, and appeared an early victim of over-confidence.

Riessen punched away at Ralston's forearm and forced America's No. 1 ace into errors that soon unsettled his serving Ralston served 13 double-faults in dropping the first two sets.

His back to the wall, Ralston settled down in the third set, broke Riessen's service in the fifth game for a 3-2 lead and steadily raised his game.

Ralston, his confidence buoyed, ran out the third set 6-4, then took charge. Serving more strongly and with greater accuracy, he raced to the net behind his booming deliveries and never lost his service after that.

Dennis got two breaks in the fourth set and then got a vital break in the third game of the last set when Riessen netted a volley. Ralston went to 4-2, broke Riesen again in the seventh game when the latter double-faulted and then served out the match.

Fox, the little unseeded giant-killer, put up a strong fight against Drysdale but lost his momentum in the second set when the South African started scoring with a looping, unothodox backhand.

Fox dictated a slow pace in the first set and won it with a series of cross-court placements that brought a break in the ninth game.

The South African changed tactics at this point and, instead of taking the role of aggressor, began battling the Californian with steady returns.

The third set, with eight games going with service, produced some of the best tennis of the tournament. Fox had a 5-4 lead and set point on service but hit a backhand placement wide. Drysdale took heart, levelled the match at 5-5 with a touch volley and finally took the set 7-5.

Fox grabbed a 4-2 and 5-4 lead in the fourth set but Drysdale suddenly hit unbeatable form. Scoring with his powerful backhand, he ran off three games without loss of a point for the match.

Emerson appeared to lack concentration in the opening set against Diepraam but, once he settled down, it was no contest. He got only one break for the second set but had the South African on the run in the final two sets.

The little California girl won the first set with a service break in the ninth game. In the second set, there was a procession of dropped services as Miss Albert raced to a 4-1 lead and then saw it disappear with loss of three games in a row.

Miss Albert, leading 5-4, had an attack of serving nerves and lost the game to make it 5-5. She broke Miss Durr for a 6-5 lead and then held her own service.

Misses Richey and Moffitt gave impressive exhibitions, always in command, and Miss Bricka showed fine fighting qualities in a dogged match that lasted nearly two hours.

Phils Blank Cards, 3-0

Philadelphia (AP) — Chris Short fired a four-hitter and Johnny Callison hit a key triple as the Philadelphia Phillies beat St. Louis 3-0 Monday night and dropped the defending National League champions into eighth place.

The loss was the 23rd in 32 games over the last month for St. Louis.

With two out in the third inning Callison slammed a high drive off the scoreboard in right center field and legged it to third. Tracy Stallard then uncorked a wild pitch and Callison scored. Rich Allen and Wes Covington followed with singles, but Stallard retired Dick Stuart.

Short scored his fifth straight victory and ninth of the season against six losses. The left-hander worked out of turn in order to give Jim Bunning some extra rest for his right ankle, injured by a line drive Thursday.

Stallard, who pitched seven innings, allowed only five hits but his wild pitch saddled him with his third loss in seven decisions.

Ak-Sar-Ben Aids County Fairs For 12th Straight Year

Omaha (UPI)—Ak-Sar-Ben is offering $500 matching grants to Nebraska County Fairs for the 12th consecutive year, A. F. Jacobsen, Ak-Sar-Ben president, said Monday.

All county fairs, excluding those which conduct pari-mutuel racing meets, are eligible for the grants. They are to be used for permanent improvements on the county fair grounds.

Under this program, Ak-Sar-Ben has contributed more than half a million dollars for county fair buildings. Last year 79 county fairs took advantage of the offer. In addition, Ak-Sar-Ben also offered a second grant for cleaning and sprucing up the grounds.

Ak-Sar-Ben also pays a major share of the State Admission Taxes which are earmarked for county fairs through the Nebraska State Racing Commission. Last year, each county fair received $1,473 from this source.

Todd Hammonds, just one month and four days old, has been signed to a "contract" with the Dallas Cowboys professional football team, it was learned Monday. Ermal Allen, an assistant coach for the Cowboys, and a former neighbor and old friend of Todd's father, brought the 21-year contract to the tot.

Lindgren Won't Get NCAA Rap

. . . FOR AAU EVENT

Hamilton, N.Y. (AP)—Everett D. Barnes, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said Monday his group plans no formal action against distance runner Gerry Lindgren of Washington State University.

The slender Washington State freshman, a key figure in the long feud between the NCAA and the rival Amateur Athletic Union, defied the Pacific Athletic Conference and the NCAA to compete in the 77th AAU championships Sunday in San Diego.

Barnes, who also is director of athletics at Colgate University, told The Associated Press he did not have all the details yet.

Asked whether any action would be taken by the NCAA, Barnes said "I would say no."

Lindgren "changed his mind so many times" about competing, Barnes said. "The last I heard he wasn't going to compete, so I didn't think much about it. It was up to him, naturally."

Lindgren finished second to Olympic champion Billy Mills in a thrilling six mile race in which both bettered the world record with a time of 27:11.6. Mills won by one-twentieth of a second. This earned Lindgren another berth of the U.S. team that meets the Russians in Kiev, July 31-Aug. 1.

Last year the young runner astonished the track world by defeating the Russians in the 10,000 meter run.

Barnes described as "a lot of bunk" what he said were rumors that collegians who participated in AAU events would lose any scholarships they might have."

"That would be contrary to our rules," he said.

Barnes said there was a widespread feeling "that our best athletes should represent the United States" on the U.S. team that meets the Russians.

"And this is only right."

He said he was awaiting word from the AAU on a proposal to hold an Olympic year style tryout annually in "which all of the best athletes could compete for a berth on U S. teams."

He said he would like to see such a tryout to determine the U.S. team that will meet the Russians.

Cliff Buck, the president of the AAU, has said repeatedly that the AAU will hold to the traditional head-on meetings of its championships to determine the members of the team to meet the Russians.

In addition to Lindgren, Tommy Farrell, the NCAA half-mile champion from St. John's University of New York, and a number of other collegians defied the NCAA's ban on the AAU meet. Farrell finished third in the 880 but was picked for the team.

Lindgren Won't Get NCAA Rap

. . . FOR AAU EVENT

Hamilton, N.Y. (AP)—Everett D. Barnes, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said Monday his group plans no formal action against distance runner Gerry Lindgren of Washington State University.

The slender Washington State freshman, a key figure in the long feud between the NCAA and the rival Amateur Athletic Union, defied the Pacific Athletic Conference and the NCAA to compete in the 77th AAU championships Sunday in San Diego.

Barnes, who also is director of athletics at Colgate University, told The Associated Press he did not have all the details yet.

Asked whether any action would be taken by the NCAA, Barnes said "I would say no."

Lindgren "changed his mind so many times" about competing, Barnes said. "The last I heard he wasn't going to compete, so I didn't think much about it. It was up to him, naturally."

Lindgren finished second to Olympic champion Billy Mills in a thrilling six mile race in which both bettered the world record with a time of 27:11.6. Mills won by one-twentieth of a second. This earned Lindgren another berth of the U.S. team that meets the Russians in Kiev, July 31-Aug. 1.

Last year the young runner astonished the track world by defeating the Russians in the 10,000 meter run.

Barnes described as "a lot of bunk" what he said were rumors that collegians who participated in AAU events would lose any scholarships they might have."

"That would be contrary to our rules," he said.

Barnes said there was a widespread feeling "that our best athletes should represent the United States" on the U.S. team that meets the Russians.

"And this is only right."

He said he was awaiting word from the AAU on a proposal to hold an Olympic year style tryout annually in "which all of the best athletes could compete for a berth on U.S. teams."

He said he would like to see such a tryout to determine the U.S. team that will meet the Russians.

Cliff Buck, the president of the AAU, has said repeatedly that the AAU will hold to the traditional head-on meetings of its championships to determine the members of the team to meet the Russians.

In addition to Lindgren, Tommy Farrell, the NCAA half-mile champion from St. John's University of New York, and a number of other collegians defied the NCAA's ban on the AAU meet. Farrell finished third in the 880 but was picked for the team.

Riessen Succumbs To Davis Cup Teammate

. . . IN WIMBLEDON TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

Wimbledon, England (AP) — Shaky Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., climbed over the back of a Davis Cup teammate and moved into the semifinals of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships Monday with two top-ranked Australians and a dark horse from South Africa.

Erratic at first and serving 13 double faults in the first two sets, Ralston, top-ranked American, fought from two sets down for a 3-6, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2 victory over Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill.

He was joined in the semifinals by top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia, his next opponent Wednesday; Fred Stolle, Emerson's Davis Cup teammate, seeded No. 2, and unranked Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, who eliminated the only other remaining American, Allen Fox of Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5, 7-5.

Emerson, playing like a machine, overpowered Keith Diepraam of South Africa 4-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1 and Stolle, Wimbledon runner-up the last two years, outlasted the foxy Rafael Osuna of Mexico, 11-13, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2. Stolle plays Drysdale.

Americans had their finest day in the women's division in a decade, sending four players into the quarter-finals.

They included Nancy Richey of Dallas, seeded fourth; Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., No. 5; Justina Bricka of St. Louis and little Jane Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif.

A fifth American representative, Julie Heldman of New York, was ousted by the six-foot Christine Truman of Britain after a tough struggle 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Misses Richey and Moffitt brushed off their opponents in little more than half an hour. The aggressive, hard-hitting Miss Richey crushed Joyce Williams of England 6-0, 6-3. The bespectacled Miss Moffitt trounced Robin Lesh of Australia 6-2, 6-0.

Miss Bricka, eighth in U.S. women's rankings, displayed a lot of fight in outlasting Virginia Wade of England 5-7, 6-4, 8-6. Miss Albert, daughter of former football star Frankie Albert, upset the eighth seeded Francoise Durr of France 6-4, 7-5.

Miss Albert's quarter-final opponent Tuesday will be the defending champion, Maria Bueno of Brazil, who advanced earlier. Miss Richey plays the towering Miss Truman; Miss Bricka faces Margaret Smith, Australia's second-seeded favorite, who won over Frances McClellan of Britain 6-2, 6-1, and Miss Moffitt goes against Lesley Turner of Australia, winner over Lea Pericoli of Italy 6-0, 6-4.

Ralston was slow getting off the ground against Riessen, who has never beaten him, and appeared an early victim of over-confidence.

Riessen punched away at Ralston's forearm and forced America's No. 1 ace into errors that soon unsettled his serving. Ralston served 13 double-faults in dropping the first two sets.

His back to the wall, Ralston settled down in the third set, broke Riessen's service in the fifth game for a 3-2 lead and steadily raised his game.

Ralston, his confidence buoyed, ran out the third set 6-4, then took charge. Serving more strongly and with greater accuracy, he raced to the net behind his booming deliveries and never lost his service after that.

Dennis got two breaks in the fourth set and then got a vital break in the third game of the last set when Riessen netted a volley. Ralston went to 4-2, broke Riesen again in the seventh game when the latter double-faulted and then served out the match.

Fox, the little unseeded giant-killer, put up a strong fight against Drysdale but lost his momentum in the second set when the South African started scoring with a looping, unothodox backhand.

Fox dictated a slow pace in the first set and won it with a series of cross-court placements that brought a break in the ninth game.

The South African changed tactics at this point and, instead of taking the role of aggressor, began battling the Californian with steady returns.

The third set, with eight games going with service, produced some of the best tennis of the tournament. Fox had a 5-4 lead and set point on service but hit a backhand placement wide. Drysdale took heart, levelled the match at 5-5 with a touch volley and finally took the set 7-5.

Fox grabbed a 4-2 and 5-4 lead in the fourth set but Drysdale suddenly hit unbeatable form. Scoring with his powerful backhand, he ran off three games without loss of a point for the match.

Emerson appeared to lack concentration in the opening set against Diepraam but, once he settled down, it was no contest. He got only one break for the second set but had the South African on the run in the final two sets.

Miss Albert's victory over France's No. 1 woman player was the surprise of the day.

The little California girl won the first set with a service break in the ninth game. In the second set, there was a procession of dropped services as Miss Albert raced to a 4-1 lead and then saw it disappear with loss of three games in a row.

Miss Albert, leading 5-4, had an attack of serving nerves and lost the game to make it 5-5. She broke Miss Durr for a 6-5 lead and then held her own service.

Misses Richey and Moffitt gave impressive exhibitions, always in command, and Miss Bricka showed fine fighting qualities in a dogged match that lasted nearly two hours.

Phils Blank Cards, 3-0

Philadelphia (AP) — Chris Short fired a four-hitter and Johnny Callison hit a key triple as the Philadelphia Phillies beat St. Louis 3-0 Monday night and dropped the defending National League champions into eighth place.

The loss was the 23rd in 32 games over the last month for St. Louis.

With two out in the third inning Callison slammed a high drive off the scoreboard in right center field and legged it to third. Tracy Stallard then uncorked a wild pitch and Callison scored. Rich Allen and Wes Covington followed with singles, but Stallard retired Dick Stuart.

Short scored his fifth straight victory and ninth of the season against six losses. The left-hander worked out of turn in order to give Jim Bunning some extra rest for his right ankle, injured by a line drive Thursday.

Stallard, who pitched seven innings, allowed only five hits but his wild pitch saddled him with his third loss in seven decisions.

Ak-Sar-Ben Aids County Fairs For 12th Straight Year

Omaha (UPI)—Ak-Sar-Ben is offering $500 matching grants to Nebraska County Fairs for the 12th consecutive year, A. F. Jacobsen, Ak-Sar-Ben president, said Monday.

All county fairs, excluding those which conduct pari-mutuel racing meets, are eligible for the grants. They are to be used for permanent improvements on the county fair grounds.

Under this program, Ak-Sar-Ben has contributed more than half a million dollars for county fair buildings. Last year 79 county fairs took advantage of the offer. In addition, Ak-Sar-Ben also offered a second grant for cleaning and sprucing up the grounds.

Ak-Sar-Ben also pays a major share of the State Admission Taxes which are earmarked for county fairs through the Nebraska State Racing Commission. Last year, each county fair received $1,473 from this source.

Twins Bounced From Top Spot

. . . CHISOX ROMP, 17-4

St. Paul-Minneapolis (AP) — Tom McCraw's grand slam homer and a seven-run sixth inning uprising triggered by Danny Cater's homer carried the Chicago White Sox to a 17-4 victory over Minnesota Monday night and into a tie for the American League lead.

The crushing defeat knocked the Twins out of first place for the first time since May 20 and enabled the White Sox and Cleveland Indians to leap into a tie for the top spot. The 17 runs, put together with a 19-hit attack, tied the major league high for the season.

McCraw tagged his grand slam in the fifth inning before Cater homered and singled as the White Sox sent 12 men to the plate in the sixth inning, bringing relief pitcher Eddie Fisher his ninth victory against two losses.

Twins starter Dave Boswell had allowed only one hit when the White Sox loaded the bases with two out in the fifth on singles by Ken Berry and Al Weis and a walk to J. C Martin. McCraw then tagged his 420-foot shot, putting the White Sox ahead 4-3.

But Cater and John Romano tagged Boswell for solo homers in the sixth before he departed. The White Sox added five more runs on a bases-loaded walk to Fisher, Don Buford's two-run single and run-scoring singles by Cater and Bill Skowron.

Cater also doubled home a run as the White Sox closed out their scoring with a four-run ninth.

Hall drove in two early runs as the Twins routed Sox starter John Buzhardt with three runs and six hits over the first three innings.

Cubs Down Astros, 7-2

Chicago (AP)—Larry Jackson, a 24-game winner last season, pitched a six-hitter and Ron Santo and Don Landrum hit two-run homers Monday in a 7-2 victory for the Chicago Cubs over the Houston Astros.

It was Jackson's fifth victory and Dave Giusti's first defeat by the Cubs over a two-year span.

Santo hit his 16th home run over the left field bleachers in the fourth following Billy Williams' 26th double Landrum connected for his third homer in the fifth with Glenn Beckert on after Beckert had driven in Vic Roznovsky and Don Kessinger with a two-run single. Landrum stole home in the eighth, having moved around on a single, stolen base and a fly ball.

Roznovsky was carried off the field on a stretcher after being hit by a Danny Coombs pitch in the eighth. Coombs also hit Doug Clemens, the previous batter.

Detroit Nips Orioles, 4-3

Baltimore (AP) — Al Kaline drove in a run with the 1,900th hit of his career and Don Wert slugged a homer as the Detroit Tigers held on for a 4-3 victory over Baltimore Monday night.

Dennis McLain got the victory for the Tigers, bringing his record to 5-3, but had considerable difficulty over the last two innings when Detroit slugger Willie Horton crashed into a gate chasing a fly ball and Sam Bowens connected for a two-run homer for the Orioles in the ninth.

McLain had a three-hit shutout until the eighth when Luis Aparicio lofted a long fly down the right field line that Horton dropped after a long run.

Horton, who went into the game hitting .325 with 17 homers and 53 runs batted in for the Tigers, crashed through a gate along the foul line after dropping the ball and was forced to leave the game.

The first word on Horton's injury was that it was not serious and no X rays would be taken.

When play resumed, Aparicio was given a triple since a fan reached out of the stands and touched the ball Aparicio scored as Russ Snyder grounded out.

Bowens homered with two out in the ninth and Orlano Pena came on to get the final out.

The Tigers scored their first run in the fifth when Norm Cash doubled off starter Wally Bunker, took third on a long fly and scored on Jackie Moore's sacrifice fly.

In the sixth, Kaline followed a walk to Dick McAuliffe and an error by Powell with a single to center. Horton then drove in another run with a sacrifice fly.

Wert's homer in the seventh closed out the scoring against Bunker, who allowed just five hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the Orioles' half. Bunker now is 4-4

Whitfield's Blast Helps Indians, 9-2

Boston (AP)—Fred Whitfield's opposite feild three-run homer launched Cleveland toward a 9-2 romp over Boston Monday night and the Indians' 15th victory in their last 17 games

Vic Davalillo, the American League's leading batter, smacked a homer in the fourth for a 4-0 advantage and the Indians kept piling on runs to the end.

Tribe starter Luis Tiant got his seventh victory but needed help in the sixth from Floyd Weaver. Tiant had worked 3 2-3 innings in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader but Manager Birdie Tebbetts came right bck with him.

He gave up his first hit, a broken bat single by Bob Tillman, and two walks in the third before getting out of his own jam. He served a homer to Felix Mantilla in the fourth and had yielded a double to Carl Yastrzemski and a walk to Mantilla with one out in the sixth when he was lifted

The Indians, who collected 35 hits and 21 runs in sweeping Sunday's doubleheader, added 14 hits Monday night.

Mets Stun Braves In 5-2, 6-3 Wins

. . . END LOSING STREAK

New York (AP) — Jack Fisher's strong pitching in the opener and a five-run burst in the fourth inning of the second game carried the last-place New York Mets to a double-header sweep over Milwaukee Monday night, 5-2 and 6-3

The National League tailenders ended their latest losing string at five games and the double setback gave the Braves their longest losing streak of the season, four straight.

Fisher, who had lost four in a row, scattered nine hits in the first game and got key support from Roy McMillan. The veteran shortstop knocked in the Mets' first run with a single in the third inning, then triple in a run and scored the decisive run on Ed Kranepool's sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Loser Tony Cloninger struck out 11 before being replaced by Billy O'Dell with two out in the sixth

Kranepool launched the Mets' big fourth inning in the second game with a homer of loser Hank Fischer. The Milwaukee right-hander then gave up a bases-loaded walk to Chris Canizzaro, a squeeze bunt single to pitcher Galen Cisco and a two-run single to Chuck Hiller-who collected six hits in the two games.

Despite the 5-0 lead, Cisco failed to last the fifth. He was knocked out on a run-scoring single by Ty Cline, Mack Jones' two-run single and a double by Fran Bolling as the Braves rallied for three runs.

Reds' Rally Slumps, Bucs Win

Pittsburgh (AP) — Don Cardwell checked Cincinnati on three hits through eight innings and hit a home run but needed ninth inning relief help from Al McBean in the Pittsburgh Pirates' 5-4 victory over the Reds Monday night.

The Reds rallied for four runs in the ninth, knocking out Cardwell, before McBean got the last out.

Singles by Pete Rose and Frank Robinson, and a walk to Johnny Edwards loaded the bases with two out. Cardwell then walked Marty Keough, forcing in the first Cincinnati run, and was replaced by McBean. Pinch hitter Gordie Coleman doubled, clearing the bases, but McBean retired pinch hitter Tony Perez on a grounder to end the game.

Marichal Topples Dodgers

San Francisco (AP)—San Francisco's Juan Marichal scattered six hits, outdueled Don Drysdale and posted his 10th consecutive victory against Los Angeles in Candlestick Park as the Giants downed the National League leading Dodgers 5-0 Monday night

The loss marked the first time this season the Dodgers have lost three straight and prevented them from extending their league lead to more than one game over second-place Cincinnati.

Drysdale, who opened the gates for the Giants in their four-run fifth inning with two consecutive errors, lost his fourth straight as his record dropped to 11-7.

The Giants started Marichal on the way to his 12th victory against six losses by scoring once in the first. Dick Schoefield singled, moved to second on Matty Alou's sacrifice and came across on a single by Willie Mays.

Drysdale made a two-base error on Hal Lanier's bouncer to the mound opening the fifth and then threw away Randy Hundley's sacrifice bunt.

Lanier later got caught in a rundown between third and home. But catcher John Roseboro, who also allowed two passed balls, interfered with Lanier, permitting him to score. It was the Dodgers' third error of the inning.

Matty Alou singled in another run and Jim Hart capped the inning with a two-run single.

. . . NATS FALL TWICE

Washington (AP)—Mel Stottlemyre pitched a two-hitter in the first game and Bobby Richardson stroked five hits in the doubleheader as the New York Yankees clipped Washington 3-0 and 4-3 Monday night.

The twin victories stretched the Yankees' winning streak to five games—their longest of the season.

The Yankees, who played without Mickey Mantle, lost Roger Maris again with a strained right wrist early in the second game and pitcher Bill Stafford with a hitch in the shoulder, but kept rolling before 30,019, the second largest crowd of the season in Washington

Stottlemyre's eighth victory was his third shutout Bob Chance lined a single to center with one out in the second, and the only other hit was Don Blasingame's two-out single in the eighth

Stottlemyre walked four and struck out four.

The Yankees beat Pete Richert, who had an 0.90 earned-run average in his last six starts. They scored their first run on consecutive singles by Elston Howard, Tom Tresh and Hector Lopez in the fourth.

Richert was yanked after Clete Boyer's homer off the top of the upper deck and Stottlemyre's single in the seventh. The Yankees then added an unearned run off ex-teammate Marshall Bridges in the eighth.

The Yankees built a 3-0 lead on Mike McCormick in the second game on Doc Edwards' runscoring double and Richardson's single in the third and Hector Lopez, homer in the fourth, then scored their last run in the fifth on a passed ball by Mike Brumley.

Twins Bounced From Top Spot

. . . CHISOX ROMP, 17-4

St. Paul-Minneapolis (AP) — Tom McCraw's grand slam homer and a seven-run sixth inning uprising triggered by Danny Cater's homer carried the Chicago White Sox to a 17-4 victory over Minnesota Monday night and into a tie for the American League lead.

The crushing defeat knocked the Twins out of first place for the first time since May 20 and enabled the White Sox and Cleveland Indians to leap into a tie for the top spot. The 17 runs, put together with a 19-hit attack, tied the major league high for the season.

McCraw tagged his grand slam in the fifth inning before Cater homered and singled as the White Sox sent 12 men to the plate in the sixth inning, bringing relief pitcher Eddie Fisher his ninth victory against two losses.

Twins starter Dave Boswell had allowed only one hit when the White Sox loaded the bases with two out in the fifth on singles by Ken Berry and Al Weis and a walk to J. C. Martin. McCraw then tagged his 420-foot shot, putting the White Sox ahead 4-3.

But Cater and John Romano tagged Boswell for solo homers in the sixth before he departed. The White Sox added five more runs on a bases-loaded walk to Fisher, Don Buford's two-run single and run-scoring singles by Cater and Bill Skowron.

Cater also doubled home a run as the White Sox closed out their scoring with a four-run ninth.

Hall drove in two early runs as the Twins routed Sox starter John Buzhardt with three runs and six hits over the first three innings.

Cubs Down Astros, 7-2

Chicago (AP)—Larry Jackson, a 24-game winner last season, pitched a six-hitter and Ron Santo and Don Landrum hit two-run homers Monday in a 7-2 victory for the Chicago Cubs over the Houston Astros.

It was Jackson's fifth victory and Dave Giusti's first defeat by the Cubs over a two-year span.

Santo hit his 16th home run over the left field bleachers in the fourth following Billy Williams' 26tth double. Landrum connected for his third homer in the fifth with Glenn Beckert on after Beckert had driven in Vic Roznovsky and Don Kessinger with a two-run single. Landrum stole home in the eighth, having moved around on a single, stolen base and a fly ball.

Roznovsky was carried off the field on a stretcher after being hit by a Danny Coombs pitch in the eighth. Coombs also hit Doug Clemens, the previous batter.

Detroit Nips Orioles, 4-3

Baltimore (AP) — Al Kaline drove in a run with the 1,900th hit of his career and Don Wert slugged a homer as the Detroit Tigers held on for a 4-3 victory over Baltimore Monday night.

Dennis McLain got the victory for the Tigers, bringing his record to 5-3, but had consierable difficulty over the last two innings when Detroit slugger Willie Horton crashed into a gate chasing a fly ball and Sam Bowens connected for a two-run homer for the Orioles in the ninth.

McLain had a three-hit shutout until the eighth when Luis Aparicio lofted a long fly down the right field line that Horton dropped after a long run.

Horton, who went into the game hitting .325 with 17 homers and 53 runs batted in for the Tigers, crashed through a gate along the foul line after dropping the ball and was forced to leave the game.

The first word on Horton's injury was that it was not serious and no X rays would be taken.

When play resumed, Aparicio was given a triple since a fan reached out of the stands and touched the ball. Aparicio scored as Russ Snyder grounded out.

Bowens homered with two out in the ninth and Orlano Pena came on to get the final out.

The Tigers scored their first run in the fifth when Norm Cash doubled off starter Wally Bunker, took third on a long fly and scored on Jackie Moore's sacrifice fly.

In the sixth, Kaline followed a walk to Dick McAuliffe and an error by Powell with a single to center. Horton then drove in another run with a sacrifice fly.

Wert's homer in the seventh closed out the scoring against Bunker, who allowed just five hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the Orioles' half. Bunker now is 4-4.

Whitfield's Blast Helps Indians, 9-2

Boston (AP)—Fred Whitfield's opposite feild three-run homer launched Cleveland toward a 9-2 romp over Boston Monday night and the Indians' 15th victory in their last 17 games.

Vic Davalillo, the American League's leading batter, smacked a homer in the fourth for a 4-0 advantage and the Indians kept piling on runs to the end.

Tribe starter Luis Tiant got his seventh victory but needed help in the sixth from Floyd Weaver. Tiant had worked 3 2-3 innings in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader but Manager Birdie Tebbetts came right bck with him.

He gave up his first hit, a broken bat single by Bob Tillman, and two walks in the third before getting out of his own jam. He served a homer to Felix Mantilla in the fourth and had yielded a double to Carl Yastrzemski and a walk to Mantilla with one out in the sixth when he was lifted.

The Indians, who collected 35 hits and 21 runs in sweeping Sunday's doubleheader, added 14 hits Monday night.

Mets Stun Braves In 5-2, 6-3 Wins

. . . END LOSING STREAK

New York (AP) — Jack Fisher's strong pitching in the opener and a five-run burst in the fourth inning of the second game carried the last-place New York Mets to a double-header sweep over Milwaukee Monday night, 5-2 and 6-3.

The National League tailenders ended their latest losing string at five games and the double setback gave the Braves their longest losing streak of the season, four straight.

Fisher, who had lost four in a row, scattered nine hits in the first game and got key support from Roy McMillan. The veteran shortstop knocked in the Mets' first run with a single in the third inning, then triple in a run and scored the decisive run on Ed Kranepool's sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Kranepool launched the Mets' big fourth inning in the second game with a homer of loser Hank Fischer. The Milwaukee right-hander then gave up a bases-loaded walk to Chris Canizzaro, a squeeze bunt single to pitcher Galen Cisco and a two-run single to Chuck Hiller-who collected six hits in the two games.

Despite the 5-0 lead, Cisco failed to last the fifth. He was knocked out on a run-scoring single by Ty Cline, Mack Jones' two-run single and a double by Fran Bolling as the Braves rallied for three runs.

Reds' Rally Slumps, Bucs Win

Pittsburgh (AP) — Don Cardwell checked Cincinnati on three hits through eight innings and hit a home run but needed ninth inning relief help from Al McBean in the Pittsburgh Pirates' 5-4 victory over the Reds Monday night.

The Reds rallied for four runs in the ninth, knocking out Cardwell, before McBean got the last out.

Singles by Pete Rose and Frank Robinson, and a walk to Johnny Edwards loaded the bases with two out. Cardwell then walked Marty Keough, forcing in the first Cincinnati run, and was replaced by McBean. Pinch hitter Gordie Coleman doubled, clearing the bases, but McBean retired pinch hitter Tony Perez on a grounder to end the game.

Marichal Topples Dodgers

San Francisco (AP)—San Francisco's Juan Marichal scattered six hits, outdueled Don Drysdale and posted his 10th consecutive victory against Los Angeles in Candlestick Park as the Giants downed the National League leading Dodgers 5-0 Monday night.

The loss marked the first time this season the Dodgers have lost three straight and prevented them from extending their league lead to more than one game over second-place Cincinnati.

Drysdale, who opened the gates for the Giants in their four-run fifth inning with two consecutive errors, lost his fourth straight as his record dropped to 11-7.

The Giants started Marichal on the way to his 12th victory against six losses by scoring once in the first. Dick Schoefield singled, moved to second on Matty Alou's sacrifice and came across on a single by Willie Mays.

Drysdale made a two-base error on Hal Lanier's bouncer to the mound opening the fifth and then threw away Randy Hundley's sacrifice bunt.

Lanier later got caught in a rundown between third and home. But catcher John Roseboro, who also allowed two passed balls, interfered with Lanier, permitting him to score. It was the Dodgers' third error of the inning.

Matty Alou singled in another run and Jim Hart capped the inning with a two-run single.

. . . NATS FALL TWICE

Washington (AP)—Mel Stottlemyre pitched a two-hitter in the first game and Bobby Richardson stroked five hits in the doubleheader as the New York Yankees clipped Washington 3-0 and 4-3 Monday night.

The twin victories stretched the Yankees' winning streak to five games—their longest of the season.

The Yankees, who played without Mickey Mantle, lost Roger Maris again with a strained right wrist early in the second game and pitcher Bill Stafford with a hitch in the shoulder, but kept rolling before 30,019, the second largest crowd of the season in Washington.

Stottlemyre's eighth victory was his third shutout. Bob Chance lined a single to center with one out in the second, and the only other hit was Don Blasingame's two-out single in the eighth.

Stottlemyre walked four and struck out four.

The Yankees beat Pete Richert, who had an 0.90 earned-run average in his last six starts. They scored their first run on consecutive singles by Elston Howard, Tom Tresh and Hector Lopez in the fourth.

Richert was yanked after Clete Boyer's homer off the top of the upper deck and Stottlemyre's single in the seventh. The Yankees then added an unearned run off ex-teammate Marshall Bridges in the eighth.

The Yankees built a 3-0 lead on Mike McCormick in the second game on Doc Edwards' runscoring double and Richardson's single in the third and Hector Lopez, homer in the fourth, then scored their last run in the fifth on a passed ball by Mike Brumley.

We opened the end of the mortgage the other day and started building a guest room on the scatter. I don't know for what guest—but one will come.

"Build a better guest room and the guests will beat a path to your door," cried Alexander Bullfinch, the philosopher of the Seventies.

"Opening the end of the mortgage" is a way of saying you go a little deeper in hock to the banker. The banker does not mind if you build on the house. For it really is his house. All improvements are welcome.

Guests are generally relatives. If you live in a resort part of the nation you will be surprised how many relatives you have.

"Dear Joe: We have been thinking about you a lot lately. We really should get together more often, but business has kept me right at the grindstone. However, it gets a little quiet during the summer. We thought we might pack the car and just . . ."

At this point you set up the camp cots and begin borrowing bedding from the neighbors.

Says the letter: "Remember we are just folks. So don't go to a lot of trouble. If you have an ironing board, I might have to borrow that. I got something in the sacroiliac last year. And the doc says I have to put something solid under the mattress.

"Now don't go to any trouble. We are informal just like you."

That is true. We are informal in the family scatter in Shady Acres.

We are informal until house guests come. Then we are very formal.

A household comes to pieces the week before guests arrive. Rooms that are usually swept must be mopped. Drawers must be emptied.

When guests are on the threshold, windows must be polished. A new washer must be installed in the faucet that drips. We buy new bath mats. Get out the "His" and "Hers" towels.

But, ha! This is the ever-loving problem. You cannot live in it.

"Could you use the other door and not walk in the kitchen? We just got it mopped."

I had some rare house guests at times. Believe me, they should be invited with care.

I had Max Bodenheim, the Greenwich Village poet. He got red-eyed on gin and stayed that way for three days. He had the bottles cached behind the bathtub. And I couldn't figure how he was staying loaded.

At times, he rose and recited his own poetry.

At the finish, he would sneer? "Don't understand it, do you?"

He was a great strain as a house guest. But I had to admire the way he handled it. A house guest is a strain at best. Bodenheim just started and stayed that way.

"No trouble at all. We haven't done a thing. Really! We live very simply here in the country. Everybody's just like one of the family."

'Chaos' Foreseen If Budget Bill Doesn't Get 33 Votes

The bill appropriating money for Nebraska's educational, institutional and welfare needs during the coming two years is scheduled to show up for final passage this week, and the Unicameral's Budget Committee chairman said Monday that if it fails to receive 33 favorable votes, "state government will be in utter chaos."

LB889 appropriates money for the two years beginning Friday (July 14).

To become effective when the governor signs it, the bill must carry the emergency clause, and that requires 33 favorable votes. Without the emergency clause, the bill would not take effect until 90 days after legislative adjournment, which would be four or five months after the fiscal year's start.

"If it doesn't have enough votes, we might as well throw the bill in the ash can," said Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, the Budget Committee chief, in response to questions put on the floor Monday by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

The budget bill ran into such trouble in 1957, failing to receive enough votes to carry the emergency clause. On reconsideration, the Legislature finally passed it with the emergency clause.

Sen. Marvel said that if LB889 fails to receive 33 votes, he presumes those who vote against it would offer some substitute. He said he would oppose any across-the-board cuts.

halts

Most gasolines are clean when they leave the refinery. But on the way to your car—in transit and in storage—they pick up impurities that could choke off power, reduce engine efficiency...could even stop you cold. Automotive engineers asked for an answer to this problem—American Oil Research developed the American FINAL/FILTER.* It halts harmful particles (present in all gasolines), right at the pump nozzle. If you depend on your car for your livelihood (and even if you don't) it pays to "fill 'er up filtered" with American® Regular or American® Super-Premium.

Says the letter: "Remember we are just folks. So don't go to a lot of trouble. If you have an ironing board, I might have to borrow that. I got something in the sacroiliac last year. And the doc says I have to put something solid under the mattress.

"Now don't go to any trouble. We are informal just like you."

That is true. We are informal in the family scatter in Shady Acres.

We are informal until house guests come. Then we are very formal.

A household comes to pieces the week before guests arrive. Rooms that are usually swept must be mopped. Drawers must be emptied.

When guests are on the threshold, windows must be polished. A new washer must be installed in the faucet that drips. We buy new bath mats. Get out the "His" and "Hers" towels.

But, ha! This is the ever-loving problem. You cannot live in it.

"Could you use the other door and not walk in the kitchen? We just got it mopped."

I had some rare house guests at times. Believe me, they should be invited with care.

I had Max Bodenheim, the Greenwich Village poet. He got red-eyed on gin and stayed that way for three days. He had the bottles cached behind the bathtub. And I couldn't figure how he was staying loaded.

At times, he rose and recited his own poetry.

At the finish, he would sneer? "Don't understand it, do you?"

He was a great strain as a house guest. But I had to admire the way he handled it. A house guest is a strain at best. Bodenheim just started and stayed that way.

However, the usual house guest simply energizes a line of back-and-forth I find hard to keep up with:

"No trouble at all. We haven't done a thing. Really! We live very simply here in the country. Everybody's just like one of the family."

The visiting lady then says: "What a charming house! Now you must let me help."

'Chaos' Foreseen If Budget Bill Doesn't Get 33 Votes

The bill appropriating money for Nebraska's educational, institutional and welfare needs during the coming two years is scheduled to show up for final passage this week, and the Unicameral's Budget Committee chairman said Monday that if it fails to receive 33 favorable votes, "state government will be in utter chaos."

To become effective when the governor signs it, the bill must carry the emergency clause, and that requires 33 favorable votes. Without the emergency clause, the bill would not take effect until 90 days after legislative adjournment, which would be four or five months after the fiscal year's start.

"If it doesn't have enough votes, we might as well throw the bill in the ash can," said Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, the Budget Committee chief, in response to questions put on the floor Monday by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

The budget bill ran into such trouble in 1957, failing to receive enough votes to carry the emergency clause. On reconsideration, the Legislature finally passed it with the emergency clause.

Sen. Marvel said that if LB889 fails to receive 33 votes, he presumes those who vote against it would offer some substitute. He said he would oppose any across-the-board cuts.

halts
harmful particles in gasoline
(just before they enter your tank!)

Most gasolines are clean when they leave the refinery. But on the way to your car—in transit and in storage—they pick up impurities that could choke off power, reduce engine efficiency...could even stop you cold. Automotive engineers asked for an answer to this problem—American Oil Research developed the American FINAL/FILTER.* It halts harmful particles (present in all gasolines), right at the pump nozzle. If you depend on your car for your livelihood (and even if you don't) it pays to "fill 'er up filtered" with American® Regular or American® Super-Premium.

Bill Repealing Full Crew Law Wins First Stage Approval

Moments earlier, the measure, LB336, survived a kill motion on a 17-27 vote.

Sen. Stanley Matzke of Milford, the bill's sponsor, argued that the law is "outmoded because of technological changes" which have replaced coal-fired steam engines with modern diesels.

Adds $3 Million

The law adds $3 million in costs to railroads operating in Nebraska and they are reflected in consumer costs of transportation, Matzke said.

Under the bill, firemen who are "not needed," could be released, Matzke told his colleagues.

Safety would not be disturbed, he said, because railroads would still be required to have two brakemen on all mainline runs.

Damage Safety

Sen. William Skarda of Omaha, who offered the kill motion, said passage of the bill would damage safety standards, hurt the state's economy and pave the way for removal of brakemen in the future.

Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha criticized railroads for "using a veiled threat" that they would close branch lines if the bill is not enacted.

"I would like to see as much dedication to service on the part of the railroads as they have given to this nit-picking bill," Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa declared.

A Jefferson County District Court decision holding that diesel locomotives need not carry firemen is currently under appeal to the State Supreme Court, but Matzke said LB336 would free railroads "continuing harrasment" over the issue.

LB332—establishing a noxious weed control program

LB918—revising requirements called for in LB527, passed earlier, with respect to report attached to deeds and conveyances filed with register of deeds or county clerk, showing consideration involved in property transfer.

Committee Advances 2 Redistricting Plans

The Legislature's Committee on Committees voted Monday to send two legislative reapportionment plans to the Unicameral floor—one involving the crossing of county lines, and the other adhering to county lines.

Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, committee chairman, said either plan can expect to be amended. The measures principally serve as vehicles to carry out the Legislature's ultimate decision, he said.

The plan crossing county lines would create a 50-member Legislature. It was advanced first by Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance but modified by Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell.

The maximum population disparity among districts under the Gerdes-Whitney plan would be about 3,000.

The plan adhering to county lines was drawn originally by Sen. Adamson and amended by Sen. Whitney. It calls for a body of either 46 or 47 members, depending upon whether Douglas County is given 11 or 12 senators. The population disparity runs to about 8,000.

Adamson said the two plans will be put in bill form and delivered to the Legislature for introduction. Under a prior motion, they will be referred to the government committee for public hearing.

The Committee on Committees was directed nearly four weeks ago to receive suggestions and recommend one or more reapportionment plans.

Enactment of a new reapportionment bill was directed by the three-judge federal court panel which recently outlawed the plan passed earlier at the current session as LB628.

Sen. Adamson said he remains hopeful that the Legislature will appeal the court's decision although lawmakers so far have rejected this avenue of action.

Adamson said he hopes the attorney general's office will file a brief in support of appeal so that if the Legislature is unable to decide on a new reapportionment plan, it can pursue the appeal route.

BANG! LEGAL FIREWORKS OK FOR THIS WEEK

Monday was the first day that fireworks could be sold at retail and used, exploded or discharged in Lincoln for the 1965 Fourth of July holiday, police said.

Lincolnites can continue to buy and use legal fireworks, the police explained, for the rest of the week up to the end of the holiday on Sunday.

The fireworks legal in Lincoln during this time are: sparklers, fountains, torches, color fire cones, star and comet color serial shells without explosive charge for the purpose of making a noise, color wheels, toy cap pistols and top caps each of which does not contain more than twenty-five hundredths of a gram of explosive material.

Only cap pistols may be sold or used during any other time than the Fourth of July week.

It is unlawful, police said, to sell or discharge any other kind of fireworks.

Bill Repealing Full Crew Law Wins First Stage Approval

A bill repealing Nebraska's full crew law for diesel locomotives hauling freight trains won 25-16 first stage floor approval in the Legislature Monday.

Sen. Stanley Matzke of Milford, the bill's sponsor, argued that the law is "outmoded because of technological changes" which have replaced coal-fired steam engines with modern diesels.

Adds $3 Million

The law adds $3 million in costs to railroads operating in Nebraska and they are reflected in consumer costs of transportation, Matzke said.

Under the bill, firemen who are "not needed," could be released, Matzke told his colleagues.

Safety would not be disturbed, he said, because railroads would still be required to have two brakemen on all mainline runs.

A Jefferson County District Court decision holding that diesel locomotives need not carry firemen is currently under appeal to the State Supreme Court, but Matzke said LB336 would free railroads "continuing harrasment" over the issue.

Other bills advanced from general file included:

LB332—establishing a noxious weed control program.

LB918—revising requirements called for in LB527, passed earlier, with respect to report attached to deeds and conveyances filed with register of deeds or county clerk, showing consideration involved in property transfer.

Committee Advances 2 Redistricting Plans

The Legislature's Committee on Committees voted Monday to send two legislative reapportionment plans to the Unicameral floor—one involving the crossing of county lines, and the other adhering to county lines.

Kingery Declared Low Bidder On East High; Others Object

Kingery Construction Co. was declared to be the apparent low bidder for the general contract of the East High Complex by the Lincoln Board of Education here Monday amid controversy about the legality of Kingery's qualified bid.

The bid, which included the statement that it was "qualified on gym lockers," amounted to a total of $3,301,835 with seven alternates.

Board President Robert Wekesser announced that contracts would be awarded Tuesday at 9 a.m. The contracts have to be awarded by June 30 in order for the district to be eligible for some $380,000 in federal vocational education funds.

Supt. Steven N. Watkins said that before Tuesday morning board members and the administration must decide on change orders in the proposed building to bring the $5,008,024 cost down to the $4,862,000 available from bonds and federal funds.

'Not Responsive'

Roy Randolph, representing the George Cook Construction Co. whose bid with alternates amounted to $3,320,389, argued that Kingery's bid was "not a responsive bid" because the "qualified" lockers did not meet the school district's specifications.

Randolph and the Cook company contended that "a bid with qualifications is illegal. It should not have even been read nor considered by the board."

The dispute over qualified bids and gym lockers meeting the specifications erupted as the board was accepting East High architect Ellery Davis's recommendations of apparent low bids.

Bids and alternates had been reviewed by architects and school staff during the weekend in order to trim down the bids received Friday which exceeded the estimates by some $500,000. The Cook company was announced at that time to have the apparent low base bid of $3,396,339 before alternates were considered. The Kingery base bid was $3,402,941.

Davis's other apparent low recommendations which were also accepted by the school board included the G. H. Wentz, Inc., bid with alternates in the amount of $1,105,954 for mechanical work and ABC Electric Co.'s bid with alternates, in the amount of $602,235, for electrical work Davis reported that there had not been time to review the seven bids received for folding bleachers.

School board attorney Willis Hecht, when asked for a legal opinion on the locker qualification, said that "it is a matter for determination by the Board of Education because the plans and specifications provide that the board can waive informalities in a bid if the board feels nobody is hurt by it."

The board vote to designate apparent low bids, he said, was its determination that qualification of gym lockers "did not mean anything" and was therefore an informality.

But Hecht did point out, "It is an irregularity if anything is written on a bid and probably should not be done as a general rule." However, he added, the qualification "did not make the bid illegal."

Not Relieved

Wekesser emphasized that even if the bid was qualified, the bidder was not relieved of the responsibility of meeting the district's specifications.

The Cook company spokesman contended that if his company had qualified its bid concerning lockers, the Cook bid, too, would have been "more than $20,000 under our submitted bid."

Strike Talks Are Unfruitful At Goodyear

Union and management representatives failed to reach agreement again Monday in an attempt to end the five-day-old strike at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plant.

A union spokesman said an all-day negotiating session resulted in "nothing concrete. The strike is still on."

Daniel R. Remigio, Goodyear plant manager, said no new date had been set for further negotiations.

The dispute is over wages, vacation scheduling, pension payments and other fringe benefits. More than 950 workers were idled.

The union walked off the job at 3 p.m. last Thursday, establishing picket lines outside the plant gate.

The company maintains the strike is mainly over the failure to conclude a local wage increase contract agreed to last April in company-wide negotiations.

Merging Of Districts 55, 160 Approved

Meetings were held Monday evening by School Board representatives of Saline, Gage and Lancaster Counties to review petitions to redistrict Gage County School Districts 53 and 55.

In a public hearing School Supts. Lyle B. Hunkins of Gage County and Glenn E. Turner of Lancaster County approved a petition to merge Gage County School District 55 into Lancaster County School District 160. This was the final action to be taken on this proposal, and the measure will go into effect on Aug. 15.

In a second meeting, a special committee hearing was held to review a petition for the redistricting of School District 53 of Gage County. In this meeting the committee approved a measure which would eliminate District 53.

The result of this reorganization would be that the major portion of District 53 would be merged into Lancaster County's district 160, and an additional 240 acres each would go to Saline County's School Districts 2 and 82. This meeting was only an interim process in the redistricting plan, and the proposal next goes to the State Committee on School Reorganization for approval.

After the state committee has acted on the petition, the special committee will convene again. Final action is expected sometime in August.

Model Killed As Boulder Crushes Car

A bride of less than a year, Mrs. Susan E. Browne, 23, had lingered in the post office to read the latest letter from her husband, an Army lieutenant in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Browne died two hours later in St. Francis Hospital, Trenton.

Omaha (AP)— The first carload of new crop wheat arrived in Omaha Monday. The 1,650 bushel shipment from Brock, Neb., was about a week later this year than last year but about on the average with the last few years.

Don Whitmore of Scoular-Bishop Grain Co., which handled the consignment said the protein content may be below the average because of the cool, damp weather in recent weeks in the wheat-producing areas of Nebraska.

WICS' Job Corps Office Formally Opened Here

Mrs. William Cooper of Washington, D.C. formally opened the screening center headquarters for the Job Corps sponsored by the Women in Community Service, Inc. (WICS) in ceremonies drawing local, state and national dignitaries here Monday.

Some 150 community agency representatives and other interested persons attended the opening ceremonies in the new WICS headquarters in the YWCA building and heard project workers active in the establishment of the screening center recognized.

Mrs. Cooper is national president of WICS, an inter-racial, inter-faith group formed by members of the National Council of Catholic Women, the National Council of Jewish Women and the National Council of Church Women.

Joy To Watch

She explained the function of WICS in relation to the Economic Opportunity Act, declaring that "the inter-racial, inter-faith cooperation is a joy to watch."

She said that "the girls receiving the training and the volunteer women will never be the same again" after their experience in the project.

Mrs. Fred Nevels of Lincoln, national board member of WICS, explained the organization's work in Nebraska. Miss Eunice Preston, director of Lincoln WICS members, told about the screening process.

The screening center, which has actually been operating for the past week, has recruited more than 40 volunteers working under nine directors, according to Mrs. Rihhard E. Rice, director of public information.

Gas Sales Rise By One Percent

The Motor Fuels Tax Division of the State Agriculture Department said Monday that sales of gasoline in Nebraska have increased only one percent during the first six months of this year in comparison to the same period in 1964.

Gasoline tax collections from Jan. 1 to June 25 of this year hit nearly $20.8 million, an increase of about $680,000 from the collection total at the same time a year ago. This reflects imposition of a half cent per gallon gasoline tax increase effective April 1.

The division reported the sale of 58,023,290 gallons of gasoline during June and a June tax receipt of $4,195,685. During the same month a year ago, the totals were 60,913, 352 gallons and $4,094,299.

Kingery Declared Low Bidder On East High; Others Object

Kingery Construction Co. was declared to be the apparent low bidder for the general contract of the East High Complex by the Lincoln Board of Education here Monday amid controversy about the legality of Kingery's qualified bid.

The bid, which included the statement that it was "qualified on gym lockers," amounted to a total of $3,301,835 with seven alternates.

Board President Robert Wekesser announced that contracts would be awarded Tuesday at 9 a.m. The contracts have to be awarded by June 30 in order for the district to be eligible for some $380,000 in federal vocational education funds.

Supt. Steven N. Watkins said that before Tuesday morning board members and the administration must decide on change orders in the proposed building to bring the $5,008,024 cost down to the $4,862,000 available from bonds and federal funds.

'Not Responsive'

Roy Randolph, representing the George Cook Construction Co. whose bid with alternates amounted to $3,320,389, argued that Kingery's bid was "not a responsive bid" because the "qualified" lockers did not meet the school district's specifications.

Randolph and the Cook company contended that "a bid with qualifications is illegal. It should not have even been read nor considered by the board."

The dispute over qualified bids and gym lockers meeting the specifications erupted as the board was accepting East High architect Ellery Davis's recommendations of apparent low bids.

Bids and alternates had been reviewed by architects and school staff during the weekend in order to trim down the bids received Friday which exceeded the estimates by some $500,000. The Cook company was announced at that time to have the apparent low base bid of $3,396,339 before alternates were considered. The Kingery base bid was $3,402,941.

Davis's other apparent low recommendations which were also accepted by the school board included the G. H. Wentz, Inc., bid with alternates in the amount of $1,105,954 for mechanical work and ABC Electric Co.'s bid with alternates, in the amount of $602,235, for electrical work

Davis reported that there had not been time to review the seven bids received for folding bleachers.

School board attorney Willis Hecht, when asked for a legal opinion on the locker qualification, said that "it is a matter for determination by the Board of Education because the plans and specifications provide that the board can waive informalities in a bid if the board feels nobody is hurt by it."

The board vote to designate apparent low bids, he said, was its determination that qualification of gym lockers "did not mean anything" and was therefore an informality.

But Hecht did point out, "It is an irregularity if anything is written on a bid and probably should not be done as a general rule." However, he added, the qualification "did not make the bid illegal."

Not Relieved

Wekesser emphasized that even if the bid was qualified, the bidder was not relieved of the responsibility of meeting the district's specifications.

The Cook company spokesman contended that if his company had qualified its bid concerning lockers, the Cook bid, too, would have been "more than $20,000 under our submitted bid."

Strike Talks Are Unfruitful At Goodyear

Union and management representatives failed to reach agreement again Monday in an attempt to end the five-day-old strike at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plant.

A union spokesman said an all-day negotiating session resulted in "nothing concrete. The strike is still on."

Daniel R. Remigio, Goodyear plant manager, said no new date had been set for further negotiations.

The dispute is over wages, vacation scheduling, pension payments and other fringe benefits. More than 950 workers were idled.

The union walked off the job at 3 p.m. last Thursday, establishing picket lines outside the plant gate.

The company maintains the strike is mainly over the failure to conclude a local wage increase contract agreed to last April in company-wide negotiations.

Merging Of Districts 55, 160 Approved

Meetings were held Monday evening by School Board representatives of Saline, Gage and Lancaster Counties to review petitions to redistrict Gage County School Districts 53 and 55.

In a public hearing School Supts. Lyle B. Hunkins of Gage County and Glenn E. Turner of Lancaster County approved a petition to merge Gage County School District 55 into Lancaster County School District 160. This was the final action to be taken on this proposal, and the measure will go into effect on Aug. 15.

In a second meeting, a special committee hearing was held to review a petition for the redistricting of School District 53 of Gage County. In this meeting the committee approved a measure which would eliminate District 53.

The result of this reorganization would be that the major portion of District 53 would be merged into Lancaster County's district 160, and an additional 240 acres each would go to Saline County's School Districts 2 and 82. This meeting was only an interim process in the redistricting plan, and the proposal next goes to the State Committee on School Reorganization for approval.

After the state committee has acted on the petition, the special committee will convene again. Final action is expected sometime in August.

Model Killed As Boulder Crushes Car

Allentown, Pa. (UPI)—An attractive blonde model, returning from the post office with a letter from her soldier husband in Viet Nam, was fatally injured Monday when a three-ton boulder bounced from a passing truck and crushed her convertible.

A bride of less than a year, Mrs. Susan E. Browne, 23, had lingered in the post office to read the latest letter from her husband, an Army lieutenant in Viet Nam.

Driving on the road to Robbinsville, she was rounding a curve when a truck passed her going in the opposite direction. A chain holding four giant jetty stones on the truck broke.

Mrs. Browne died two hours later in St. Francis Hospital, Trenton.

Omaha (AP)— The first carload of new crop wheat arrived in Omaha Monday. The 1,650 bushel shipment from Brock, Neb., was about a week later this year than last year but about on the average with the last few years.

Don Whitmore of Scoular-Bishop Grain Co., which handled the consignment said the protein content may be below the average because of the cool, damp weather in recent weeks in the wheat-producing areas of Nebraska.

WICS' Job Corps Office Formally Opened Here

Mrs. William Cooper of Washington, D.C. formally opened the screening center headquarters for the Job Corps sponsored by the Women in Community Service, Inc. (WICS) in ceremonies drawing local, state and national dignitaries here Monday.

Some 150 community agency representatives and other interested persons attended the opening ceremonies in the new WICS headquarters in the YWCA building and heard project workers active in the establishment of the screening center recognized.

Mrs. Cooper is national president of WICS, an inter-racial, inter-faith group formed by members of the National Council of Catholic Women, the National Council of Jewish Women and the National Council of Church Women.

Joy To Watch

She explained the function of WICS in relation to the Economic Opportunity Act, declaring that "the inter-racial, inter-faith cooperation is a joy to watch."

She said that "the girls receiving the training and the volunteer women will never be the same again" after their experience in the project.

Mrs. Fred Nevels of Lincoln, national board member of WICS, explained the organization's work in Nebraska. Miss Eunice Preston, director of Lincoln WICS members, told about the screening process.

The screening center, which has actually been operating for the past week, has recruited more than 40 volunteers working under nine directors, according to Mrs. Rihhard E. Rice, director of public information.

Tuesday Mrs. Nevels and Mrs. Cooper will participate in the opening ceremonies of the Job Corps training school in Omaha.

Gas Sales Rise By One Percent

The Motor Fuels Tax Division of the State Agriculture Department said Monday that sales of gasoline in Nebraska have increased only one percent during the first six months of this year in comparison to the same period in 1964.

Gasoline tax collections from Jan. 1 to June 25 of this year hit nearly $20.8 million, an increase of about $680,000 from the collection total at the same time a year ago. This reflects imposition of a half cent per gallon gasoline tax increase effective April 1.

The division reported the sale of 58,023,290 gallons of gasoline during June and a June tax receipt of $4,195,685. During the same month a year ago, the totals were 60,913, 352 gallons and $4,094,299.

Nearly All Grains Are Firm, Strong

Chicago (AP) — Weather became a strong factor in the grain futures market Monday and prices of nearly all contracts worked into a firm to strong range on the Board of Trade.

The only loser was July soybeans, which had been the most consistent gainer the past several days because of a belief that short interests had been caught in a squeeze and might have to bid prices sharply higher to cover commitments.

Although the delivery was both firm and weak, there was nothing more than moderate pressure or demand at any time.

At the close, soybeans were ⅝ cent a bushel lower to 1⅞ higher, July $2.98⅜-98; wheat ⅜-¾ higher, July new standard $1.39⅞-40; corn unchanged to 1 cent higher, July $1.32½-⅝; oats ¼-¾ higher, July 68⅞ cents; rye ¼-⅜ higher, July $1.14⅛.

Stock Mart Skids To New Lows

New York (AP)—The stock market staggered Monday under its worst beating in more than a year and a half.

The session started off at an easy pace with prices ranging from mixed to slightly higher in the morning. The skid got under way about midday and gained momentum as the session progressed.

A broker said that while there wasn't anything particularly drastic about the news, selling seemed to come in from all over the country. He attributed this partly to some Dow theory chartists getting a "bear signal" Friday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials plunged 13.77 to 840.59, biggest loss since the Kennedy assassinaoitn. This average has lost approximately 100 points since the market began its skid after reaching an all-time high on May 14.

The Associated Press 60-stock average fell 4.8 to 308.0 with industrials off 7.0, rails off 2.7 and utilities off 4.8. This, too, was the biggest loss since Nov. 22, 1963.

Of 1,398 issues traded, 1,167 fell and 104 rose. There were 424 new 1965 lows and no new highs.

Volume spurted to 7.66 million shares.

Tennessee Mountaineer Wins Against 'City Hall'

Washington (AP)—Once in a while you can fight city hall

The U.S. government threw in the towel Monday and conceded that Metcalf was right. That the timber he cut was on his land and not the government's and that he doesn't owe the United States $1,717.52.

Quillen, who took up the battle on behalf of Metcalf, said the Agriculture Department had called him to report a new survey showed the land belonged to Metcalf and the Forest Service will ask the Justice Department to dismiss proceedings to collect the $1,717.52 from Metcalf.

Last month Metcalf sent a plea to Quillen for help, winding up with a request that if there's any left over poverty in the country to please send it his way because "it's better than us mountain folks has been used to."

Metcalf reported that he and his wife—both disabled veterans of World War II—bought a mountain farm in Cooke County on which to raise "young 'uns." He said he thought his farm went to the top of the mountain and accordingly cut some timber on it.

But, he said, a ranger came along, said he was cutting timber on government land, and told him to stop it and let the cut timber lie.

He did.

Then the government sent him a bill for $1,717.52.

"My whole farm ain't worth that much, much less the little dab of timber that was cut," Metcalf protested to Quillen.

It paid off.

"I'm delighted to have helped keep the government from running over a little fellow," the congressman said.

He added, however, that he isn't through.

"If the government said Metcalf owed it $1,717.52 for timber he cut and which he had to leave on the ground and not use, then it seems to me the government now owes Mr. Metcalf $1,717.52,' Quillen said. "I'm going to try and get it for him."

Nearly All Grains Are Firm, Strong

Chicago (AP) — Weather became a strong factor in the grain futures market Monday and prices of nearly all contracts worked into a firm to strong range on the Board of Trade.

The only loser was July soybeans, which had been the most consistent gainer the past several days because of a belief that short interests had been caught in a squeeze and might have to bid prices sharply higher to cover commitments.

Although the delivery was both firm and weak, there was nothing more than moderate pressure or demand at any time.

At the close, soybeans were ⅝ cent a bushel lower to 1⅞ higher, July $2.98⅜-98; wheat ⅜-¾ higher, July new standard $1.39⅞-40; corn unchanged to 1 cent higher, July $1.32½-⅝; oats ¼-¾ higher, July 68⅞ cents; rye ¼-⅜ higher, July $1.14⅛.

Stock Mart Skids To New Lows

New York (AP)—The stock market staggered Monday under its worst beating in more than a year and a half.

The loss, suffered in very heavy trading, was the steepest since the assassination of President Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963.

The session started off at an easy pace with prices ranging from mixed to slighlty higher in the morning. The skid got under way about midday and gained momentum as the session progressed.

A broker said that while there wasn't anything particularly drastic about the news, selling seemed to come in from all over the country. He attributed this partly to some Dow theory chartists getting a "bear signal" Friday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials plunged 13.77 to 840.59, biggest loss since the Kennedy assassinaoitn. This average has lost approximately 100 points since the market began its skid after reaching an all-time high on May 14.

The Associated Press 60-stock average fell 4.8 to 308.0 with industrials off 7.0, rails off 2.7 and utilities off 4.8. This, too, was the biggest loss since Nov. 22, 1963.

Of 1,398 issues traded, 1,167 fell and 104 rose. There were 424 new 1965 lows and no new highs.

Volume spurted to 7.66 million shares.

Tennessee Mountaineer Wins Against 'City Hall'

The U.S. government threw in the towel Monday and conceded that Metcalf was right. That the timber he cut was on his land and not the government's and that he doesn't owe the United States $1,717.52.

Quillen, who took up the battle on behalf of Metcalf, said the Agriculture Department had called him to report a new survey showed the land belonged to Metcalf and the Forest Service will ask the Justice Department to dismiss proceedings to collect the $1,717.52 from Metcalf.

Last month Metcalf sent a plea to Quillen for help, winding up with a request that if there's any left over poverty in the country to please send it his way because "it's better than us mountain folks has been used to."

Metcalf reported that he and his wife—both disabled veterans of World War II—bought a mountain farm in Cooke County on which to raise "young 'uns." He said he thought his farm went to the top of the mountain and accordingly cut some timber on it.

But, he said, a ranger came along, said he was cutting timber on government land, and told him to stop it and let the cut timber lie.

He did.

Then the government sent him a bill for $1,717.52.

"My whole farm ain't worth that much, much less the little dab of timber that was cut," Metcalf protested to Quillen.

It paid off.

"I'm delighted to have helped keep the government from running over a little fellow," the congressman said.

He added, however, that he isn't through.

"If the government said Metcalf owed it $1,717.52 for timber he cut and which he had to leave on the ground and not use, then it seems to me the government now owes Mr. Metcalf $1,717.52,' Quillen said. "I'm going to try and get it for him."

POPE VISITED BY PARENTS

The parents of Duane Earl Pope, the young Kansan charged with commiting the bloodiest bank robbery of modern times, made a surprise call on their son in the Nebraska Penitentiary Monday.

It was the first time Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pope of Roxbury, Kan., had visited their son since he was transferred from Kansas City, Kan., to the Penitentiary early last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Pope also visited for the first time with their son's court-appointed attorney, Robert Crosby, a former Nebraska governor who now has a private law practice in Lincoln.

Pope, a lanky, 22-year-old College football star, faces federal charges in the slaying of three persons and the wounding of another in the robbery of the Big Springs, Neb., bank June 4. In addition, he has been charged with murder in Nebraska state courts.

Crosby and Wallace M. Rudolph, a University of Nebraska law professor assigned by Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt to assist in the defense, met with Pope for three hours Monday morning "to discuss problems with regard to the defense," according to Crosby.

The two attorneys then met with Mr. and Mrs. Pope in Crosby's office before the parents visited their son briefly in the Penitentiary.

Crosby said it still has not been decided what plea to enter for their new client. "We're still gathering facts," Crosby said.

Asked if Pope would be asked to undergo a mental examination, Crosby replied: "That's among the problems we're considering."

He said the young Kansan has been "very cooperative" thus far. He said either he or Rudolph would pay Pope another visit Tuesday, with subsequent meetings coming "fairly regularly."

New Location For Valentine Bank

Valentine (AP)—The Bank of Valentine, which opened here following the demise of the Nebraska State Bank of Valentine last year, has moved to the location occupied by the former bank and opened for business in the new location Monday.

The Nebraska State Banking Department, which has been conducting business as receiver of the former bank, has moved to another location. The bank was taken over by the state department after its president Richard Davenport, was charged with embezzlement of bank funds. He subsequently was sentenced to prison for eight years.

Davenport told the court he may have taken as much as $3 million over a period of 14 years.

In another action the District Court last week approved the sale of the Marian Hotel, which the banking department had acquired by the assignment of a mortgage. The purchaser was Alfred McCollister, Valentine. A banking department spokesman said the purchase price was $36,000. The department has paid nearly $19,000 in back taxes.

Niobrara River Compact Hearing Slated Thursday

Washington (AP)—A bill for ratification of the Upper Niobrara River Compact will be the subject of a hearing in Washington this week.

Sen. Milward Simpson, R-Wyo., says a Senate Interior subcommittee will conduct a public hearing Thursday on the ratification measure which he introduced last January.

The compact provides for an apportionment of the surface waters of the Upper Niobrara River Basin between Nebraska and Wyoming.

Soil Shakes Like Jell-O When Earthquakes Hit

By MARY REIFSCHNEIDER
Star Staff Writer

Earthquakes are comparable to a bowl of Jell-O,Dr. Gordon MacDonald told some 380 Nebraska youths Monday.

Dr. MacDonald, a professor of geophysics at the University of Caifornia at Los Angeles, is giving a series of lectures, "Inside the Earth," to Nebraska's top high school science students at the Holiday Science Lectures held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Dr. MacDonald explained that soil conditions in areas of central China and also in Midwestern America, including Nebraska, are very loose and react much like quavering Jell-O when an earthquake takes place.

Areas around the Pacific Oceans have about 80% of the world's earthquakes, Dr. MacDonald said. But quakes can occur in other locations he said, citing major quakes in Lisbon, Portugal, in 1755 and in New Madrid, Mo., in 1811.

Major earthquakes take place about every two or three years in Japan; every 10-15 years in Alaska; every 50 years in California; and every 300 to 400 years in the Midwest, Dr. MacDonald said.

He noted that California's major quake is now 10 years overdue, the San Francisco earthquake of 1906 being the last major one.

Seismologists know that earthquakes take place in areas called "faults" or breaks in the ground that were caused by motion between two blocks.

Pressure inside the earth causes the quakes, but due to lack of knowledge about the earth's interior and the fact that the pressure cannot be reproduced in laboratories for studying, scientists have not found out a great deal about earthquakes, Dr. MacDonald said.

First Step

He said San Francisco's earthquake provided the first step in understanding the phenomenon. Seismologists observed that the quakes happen along fault lines. He noted that the Berkeley, Calif., stadium is built on a fault.

Earthquakes have a terrifying effect on people when they happen, the geophysicist said. He said the time of day is a partial reason for the number of fatalities. The one in Lisbon came on All Saints' Day when the people were attending mass. Hence nearly one-fourth of the city's population was killed.

Dr. MacDonald said no reason has been found for the quakes to happen in the Pacific coastal areas and not along the Atlantic coast.

He said earthquakes cannot be predicted in such a way that residents of a stricken area could be forewarned.

POPE VISITED BY PARENTS

The parents of Duane Earl Pope, the young Kansan charged with commiting the bloodiest bank robbery of modern times, made a surprise call on their son in the Nebraska Penitentiary Monday.

It was the first time Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pope of Roxbury, Kan., had visited their son since he was transferred from Kansas City, Kan., to the Penitentiary early last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Pope also visited for the first time with their son's court-appointed attorney, Robert Crosby, a former Nebraska governor who now has a private law practice in Lincoln.

Pope, a lanky, 22-year-old College football star, faces federal charges in the slaying of three persons and the wounding of another in the robbery of the Big Springs, Neb., bank June 4. In addition, he has been charged with murder in Nebraska state courts.

Crosby and Wallace M. Rudolph, a University of Nebraska law professor assigned by Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt to assist in the defense, met with Pope for three hours Monday morning "to discuss problems with regard to the defense," according to Crosby.

The two attorneys then met with Mr. and Mrs. Pope in Crosby's office before the parents visited their son briefly in the Penitentiary.

Crosby said it still has not been decided what plea to enter for their new client. "We're still gathering facts," Crosby said.

Asked if Pope would be asked to undergo a mental examination, Crosby replied: "That's among the problems we're considering."

He said the young Kansan has been "very cooperative" thus far. He said either he or Rudolph would pay Pope another visit Tuesday, with subsequent meetings coming "fairly regularly."

New Location For Valentine Bank

Valentine (AP)—The Bank of Valentine, which opened here following the demise of the Nebraska State Bank of Valentine last year, has moved to the location occupied by the former bank and opened for business in the new location Monday.

The Nebraska State Banking Department, which has been conducting business as receiver of the former bank, has moved to another location. The bank was taken over by the state department after its president Richard Davenport, was charged with embezzlement of bank funds. He subsequently was sentenced to prison for eight years.

Davenport told the court he may have taken as much as $3 million over a period of 14 years.

In another action the District Court last week approved the sale of the Marian Hotel, which the banking department had acquired by the assignment of a mortgage. The purchaser was Alfred McCollister, Valentine. A banking department spokesman said the purchase price was $36,000. The department has paid nearly $19,000 in back taxes.

Niobrara River Compact Hearing Slated Thursday

Washington (AP)—A bill for ratification of the Upper Niobrara River Compact will be the subject of a hearing in Washington this week.

Sen. Milward Simpson, R-Wyo., says a Senate Interior subcommittee will conduct a public hearing Thursday on the ratification measure which he introduced last January.

The compact provides for an apportionment of the surface waters of the Upper Niobrara River Basin between Nebraska and Wyoming.

Soil Shakes Like Jell-O When Earthquakes Hit

By MARY REIFSCHNEIDER
Star Staff Writer

Earthquakes are comparable to a bowl of Jell-O, Dr. Gordon MacDonald told some 380 Nebraska youths Monday.

Dr. MacDonald, a professor of geophysics at the University of California at Los Angeles, is giving a series of lectures, "Inside the Earth," to Nebraska's top high school science students at the Holiday Science Lectures held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Dr. MacDonald explained that soil conditions in areas of central China and also in Midwestern America, including Nebraska, are very loose and react much like quavering Jell-O when an earthquake takes place.

Areas around the Pacific Oceans have about 80% of the world's earthquakes, Dr. MacDonald said. But quakes can occur in other locations he said, citing major quakes in Lisbon, Portugal, in 1755 and in New Madrid, Mo., in 1811.

A major earthquake is one that registers eight or more on the Richter scale as the one in Anchorage, Alaska, in 1964.

Major earthquakes take place about every two or three years in Japan; every 10-15 years in Alaska; every 50 years in California; and every 300 to 400 years in the Midwest, Dr. MacDonald said.

He noted that California's major quake is now 10 years overdue, the San Francisco earthquake of 1906 being the last major one.

Seismologists know that earthquakes take place in areas called "faults" or breaks in the ground that were caused by motion between two blocks.

Pressure inside the earth causes the quakes, but due to lack of knowledge about the earth's interior and the fact that the pressure cannot be reproduced in laboratories for studying, scientists have not found out a great deal about earthquakes, Dr. MacDonald said.

First Step

He said San Francisco's earthquake provided the first step in understanding the phenomenon. Seismologists observed that the quakes happen along fault lines. He noted that the Berkeley, Calif., stadium is built on a fault.

Earthquakes have a terrifying effect on people when they happen, the geophysicist said. He said the time of day is a partial reason for the number of fatalities. The one in Lisbon came on All Saints' Day when the people were attending mass. Hence nearly one-fourth of the city's population was killed.

Dr. MacDonald said no reason has been found for the quakes to happen in the Pacific coastal areas and not along the Atlantic coast.

He said earthquakes cannot be predicted in such a way that residents of a stricken area could be forewarned.

Stuck Trade School Bill Is Liberated

The Legislature Monday snatched from its Education Committee a bill to establish a state trade school at the Sioux Army Depot, and placed the measure on general file for later floor discussion and action.

The vote on Sidney Sen. George H. Fleming's motion affecting LB176 was 33-13. after more than an hour of debate.

The bill and other similar bills to establish trade schools also at North Platte, O'Neill, Norfolk, Ogallala and Broken Bow have been stalled on 4-4 votes in the eight-member Education Committee.

Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper, Education Committee chairman, said his committee will meet Tuesday and attempt to report out the other specific-location bills.

The Legislature has decreed that all bills remaining lodged in committee as of Wednesday this week shall automatically be dead. Sen. Fleming made his motion to forestall such a fate for his LB176.

There were indications that sponsors of other trade school bills gave Fleming their support in the belief and hope that LB176 could become the vehicle, by amendment, for placing trade schools at the other sites also.

Fleming based his appeal on the argument that the Sioux Army Depot facilities, now that the depot is phased out, form an ideal trade school site, available to the state free of charge with "no strings attached."

Use of the site could save the state at least $3 million, he said.

The debate covered the broad issue of trade schools. Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha contended privately operated trade schools provide such training at less cost than does the government and still make a profit.

The Education Committee has sent to the floor a bill which would permit establishment within geographical areas of locally sponsored trade schools, with partial state aid. Debate on it is set for July 13, following the Legislature's return from a Fourth of July week-long recess.

New Mill Levy Ceiling Passed

A bill setting a new property tax mill levy ceiling for second class cities and villages—5,000 population and under—earned final approval with only four votes to spare in the State Legislature Monday.

The measure, LB255, was passed 29-15.

Introduced by Sens. Albert Kjar of Lexington and W. H. Hasebroock of West Point, the bill increases from 25 to 30 mills the maximum property tax which these cities may levy for municipal purposes.

Other bills passed Monday:

LB895—Authorizing the labor commissioner to sell property used at its employment division in Omaha, with proceeds to be used for acquisition of replacement facilities. (Budget Committee) (E) (46-0).

LB464—Reducng from six to four years the terms of office of Lincoln school board members. (Stromer, Warner, Knight) (40-4).

LB682—Increasing from $4,000 to $5,000 the salary of the Lancaster County election commissioner, and increasing the deputy's salary from $3,600 to $4,000 per year. (Bauer) (E) (39-0).

LB865—Providing that certain funds collected by the State Agriculture department shall go into the state's general fund. (Budget Committee) (E) (45-0).
